

Given Medals At Dinner By Service Men

The Gettysburg Times paid tribute to its carrier boys and girls, including 32 registered as Official Defense Agents of the Treasury Department, and their parents at a testimonial dinner tendered them at the Hotel Gettysburg Monday evening.

The recognition was in observance of National Newspaper Boy Day, Saturday, October 3rd, when Times' carriers more than doubled their quota of fifty thousand ten cent war stamps... reaching the record-breaking mark of 124,440 sales.

By virtue of this astonishing achievement the carriers have boosted their total sales of war stamps in forty-one weeks to 729,913 sales.

Render Services

The entire dinner program was turned over to recognition of the services rendered by the carriers not only through their sales of war stamps but as an important factor in the publishing of a daily newspaper... those responsible for the delivery of the finished product to the door of every subscriber.

Fathers and mothers of the carriers were guests at the dinner. Some of the carriers and their parents were unable to attend the dinner because of transportation difficulties and also because of the employment of some of the parents in defense and cannery plants.

The dinner, which was held as part of The Times' observance of National Newspaper Week, was climaxed by the appearance of George Walters and Wilfred R. Seiple, both of Easton, who were members of the American Volunteer Group that served in China and Burma.

Burmese Traitors

Mr. Seiple described the organization of the A.V.G.—which later became known as the "Flying Tigers"—in the United States in July, 1941. The 250 members of the unit filtered into China as tourists, he said, and met and organized at Rangoon. The speaker disclosed how the priests of the land worked with the Japanese and led their planes to objectives in China by using a series of fires on the ground. Mr. Seiple described the Burma road and explained that it is 900 miles long and usually takes about two weeks to travel from one end to the other. It passes through deep gorges and has swarming bridges on its route, he said. He told the audience that children of five and six years could be seen working with elderly people keeping the road in shape for travel.

Mr. Walters said that the picture of a tiger shark was painted on the front of the A.V.G. planes because the Japs are afraid of the shark. He told how the "Flying Tigers" in their first contact with the enemy, bagged six of ten bombers that attempted to reach Rangoon. He told how the Japs attacked two of the "Flying Tigers" when they were forced to parachute to the ground from their planes. As the enemy's ground forces advanced, the speaker explained, the A. V. G. was forced to change its bases. Up to the time the unit was disbanded, only 15 of the 90 A. V. G. pilots had been shot down, Mr. Walters said. Four are prisoners of the Japs, he added.

Burgess Speaks

With Paul L. Roy, editor of The Gettysburg Times, serving as toastmaster, the dinner Monday evening was opened by the singing of one verse of "America." The invocation was given by Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college.

Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer lauded the carrier boys for their fine efforts. He indicated that their sale of stamps had helped the county reach its quota of stamps and bonds on several occasions. Mr. Pfeffer told the carriers on his experience as a newsboy and added that the community needs their help in this emergency. He called on the carriers to set a good example for their associates and said they owe it to themselves to carry on and go forward in their work.

Speaking as chairman of the Adams county War Bonds and Stamps committee, Edmund W. Thomas said the boys and girls were doing a good job for the Treasury department. He emphasized that every time a carrier sold a bond, that carrier is helping to place in the hands of a soldier the implements he needs to win the war. He challenged the

J. HENRY HERSHEY, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Donald Hershey, Cash-town, who leads all carriers in the county in total sales of war stamps with 126,194 to his credit, took eighth place in sales for Newspaper Boy Day with 3,865 sales. He has won all the emblems and certificates awarded by the Treasury department. Henry, who is only thirteen years old, serves the Cashtown area as The Times' carrier. He leads the next highest carrier by almost forty thousand stamps.

ROBERT STERNAT, son of Rev. and Mrs. H. W. Sternat, Biglerville, maintains a stiff pace in selling war stamps. On Newspaper Boy Day he sold 14,577 stamps to win third place but in the official standings for total sales he is second with a total of 83,665 stamps or their equivalent in war bonds. He has been a consistent campaigner and led the carriers in total sales for many weeks, relinquishing that position only recently. He is the faithful carrier in Biglerville and has one assistant.

C. ARTHUR BRAME, JR., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Arthur Brame, Lincolnton, East, set the pace for The Gettysburg Times carrier boys in the campaign to sell fifty thousand ten cent war stamps on National Newspaper Boy Day last Saturday. Arthur sold 45,432 ten cent stamps, or their equivalent in war bonds, falling short by a little more than five thousand of selling the entire county quota. He ranks third in total sales for forty-one weeks with 73,966 stamps to his credit, and has earned all four Victory emblems and a certificate of merit awarded by the Treasury department. He serves subscribers for four and one-half miles on Lincoln Highway East.

POLICE CHIEF GUISE IS GIVEN PAY INCREASE

The Gettysburg borough council at its October meeting Monday evening heard a progress report on the move launched last month by Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer to place the borough in a position to acquire the facilities of the Gettysburg Water company if the opportunity for municipal ownership presents itself in the future.

Burgess Pfeffer and Borough Solicitor E. V. Bulleit explained to councilmen state laws fixing borough's rights in such matters and outlining courses of action to acquire ownership of utilities.

Instead of the local public utility commission suggested last month by the Burgess, Mr. Bulleit recommended to council that in view of attendant expense it might be better to form first a committee in the council to investigate and prepare for negotiations with the water company—possibly with the assistance of an advisory committee of citizens.

Further Conferences

Both the Burgess and Mr. Bulleit agreed there should be further conferences on the matter before council is asked to take any action in the matter. Further information on the subject was promised council for its November meeting by Mr. Pfeffer. Vernon Corle, manager of the Gettysburg Water company, attended Monday's meeting to hear the discussion on the proposed acquisition of the local water company.

The Burgess also told council that the Securities Exchange Commission has ordered liquidation of the Associated Gas and Electric company properties and that that concern owns 51 per cent of the stock of the local water company. It was indicated however that it was the liquidation of the holding company rather than the companies it controls that has been ordered.

On recommendation of the safety and finance committees, council voted a $200-per-year raise in pay for Chief of Police Glenn Guise after being informed that he recently turned down a $2,500-a-year offer from "a nearby town."

Councilmen made it clear that the police chief did not turn down the other offer on the basis of a promise of a raise in pay here. As Wilbur J. Driver Burns To Death As Truck Hits Barn, Explodes

Trapped in the cab of a gas-line truck that struck a barn, overturned and burst into flames on the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road three miles north of York Springs at 6:30 o'clock this morning, the truck driver perished in the flames. His charred body was removed from the smoking wreckage four hours later.

Coroner L. U. Zech of York county said the man was Ralph Danner, 26, of Pikeville, Maryland, operator of the truck which was owned by the Transportation Oil company of Philadelphia and was enroute to Harrisburg from Baltimore with a cargo of gasoline for a Texaco bulk plant.

Coroner Zech and Private J. M. Micks of the Gettysburg state motor police detail, said they believed the operator fell asleep when the big truck, which carried 5,150 gallons of gasoline, approached the curve and crashed into the stone barn of the Curtis E. Bushey farm.

Tank Explodes

An explosion followed the collision and the flames from the oil truck ignited the barn. Herbert Larrac a farm hand was making in the barn at the time of the accident. He drove horses and cows from the structure and sounded an alarm. Justice of the Peace Charles H. Angell of Franklin township saw the flames and summoned the Dillsburg and York Springs fire companies.

The firemen arrived too late to save the barn. The season's crops were consumed and three calves, a colt and three mules perished. All the farm machinery burned.

A report was current at the scene of the accident that the truck contained two men but investigators said this was not true. Only one body was found and that was identified as Danner's by a metal social security plate found under the body.

Traffic was blocked for four hours at the scene.

Damage to the barn was estimated by Mr. Bushey at $6,000. The truck was valued at $9,700 and its cargo at over $1,200.

Danner's body was taken to the Pittenruff funeral home at York Springs.

32 ACCEPTED FOR SERVICE FROM BOARD 2

NEW PROCEDURE IN RATIONING OF GAS, TIRES

A statement of newly-developed procedures in the rationing of gasoline and tires that re-emphasized the need of careful use of those rationed materials was issued today by the Adams County War Price and Rationing board.

The statement follows:

"In the gasoline rationing program, OPA has introduced a procedure designated to expedite service to motorists on renewal applications for supplementary rations. Motorists whose B and C books expire on October 21 either have received or will soon receive from their rationing boards, by mail, the renewal application forms they must fill out, together with return envelopes and postcards on which the applicant is requested to fill in his own name and address. The completed form and the postcard are to be returned to the local board in the envelope provided.

SCRAP HARVEST COLLECTION IS OVER 631 TONS

The Scrap Harvest campaign collections reported to date in Adams county total 631 1/2 tons. It was disclosed at a meeting of county and local salvage committee leaders Monday evening at the court house with O. H. Benson, county salvage chairman, presiding.

With a number of communities not yet reported and only a few stating that their drives have been completed, the totals accumulated Monday evening showed 537 tons of scrap metal and 94 1/2 tons of rubber have been gathered since the drive opened September 14.

Plans were discussed for coordinating the extended campaign with the current school and newspaper drives for salvage. Existing committees were directed to confer with school officials in their areas in consolidating campaign plans.

Community Reports

Reports submitted Monday evening included the following: McKnightstown-Cashtown-Seven Stars area, 31 tons of scrap sold and collections continuing; Buchanan Valley, 35 tons gathered; Fairfield, 32 tons gathered, not complete; East Berlin, 24 1/2 tons collected with one-fourth of drive to be finished; New Oxford, 12 tons collected but only half finished; Biglerville, 32 tons collected and more promised; Littlestown, 11 tons; Gettysburg area, about 32 tons; Gardners, 16 tons; York Springs, 11 tons, half finished, and Ardencliffe, 19 tons.

Leo Stern was announced as the chairman for the Bonanza area where the drive plans have just been organized.

Chairman Benson appealed to salvage committee members to urge (Please Turn to Page 5)

Red Troops Attack To Ease Blows At Garrison

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Oct. 6 (AP)—Defenders of Stalingrad were reported holding firm today against three Nazi divisions in a flame-laced battle for a workers' settlement and Red Army troops, fighting for relief of the garrison, stabbed anew into the German left flank.

German artillery and mortar batteries heralded the opening of a series of attacks by the three divisions—totaling from 30,000 to 45,000 men. Swarms of dive-bombers and 100 tanks roared into the fight for the salient.

Prisoners told Red Army commanders that their officers feared to delay any further in their overdue plans to take the city. Colder nights have arrived on the Stalingrad front.

Repulse 22 Attacks

At one place the Germans hurled 22 attacks, but all were repulsed, the Communist party newspaper said.

German losses in the last 24 hours have been huge and the enemy failed to advance on any front, it was declared.

The Army newspaper Red Star said:

"Neither tanks, aviation nor Tommy-guns can shake the decision of our fighters and commanders to protect the Volga river stronghold and repulse the German robbers from the walls of the glorious city."

"The German high command said that a 'progressive German attack' was wrestling height after height from the Russians in the Caucasus. (It mentioned gains specifically in the mountains northeast of Tuapse, Soviet Black sea Naval base, and along the Terek river.)

"In Stalingrad," the communique said, "the German attack in embittered fighting has made a further advance.

"(Shock troops of the Army were effectively supported by German bomber formations.

Nazis Disastrous

"Northwest of the city a second Soviet group was encircled.

"On the Don front, Rumanian, Italian and Hungarian troops frustrated several attempts of the Soviets to cross the river, and repelled Soviet thrusts."

Invaders Battered Trying To Hold Areas

By JOHN H. WIGGINS

Washington, Oct. 6 (AP)—Fresh evidence that Japanese footholds in New Guinea, the Solomon islands and the Aleutians were becoming traps of destruction for the invader's troops, planes and ships emerged today out of new Allied successes in the battle of the Pacific.

On the three strategic fronts Allied and American airforces shot down a total of 22 Japanese planes within the last week, damaged two more, blew up a supply ship, bombed a destroyer out of commission, hit two cargo ships, strafed barges and blasted enemy camps, ground forces and installations.

The costly price of Japanese activity in the Solomons was demonstrated in a Navy Department report yesterday. The communique, covering four days of action up to October 3, reported destruction of 10 enemy planes, boosting the total shot down in this war theater to 229 to date.

Amid frequent clashes with enemy patrols, U. S. Marines prevented any major changes in their hard-won positions on Guadalcanal but the Japanese succeeded in landing small troop reinforcements at night. Four enemy destroyers, seeking to cover a small landing at Viru harbor, became a target for U. S. dive bombers and torpedo planes and one of the warships was left "dead in the water," the Navy said. No American losses were reported.

Ga'n 6 Miles

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Australian headquarters told of further advances by Australian jungle troops in New Guinea. Still without contacting the Nipponese, the ground forces pushed past Kagi, last community south of the mile-high gap in the towering Owen Stanley mountain range, and pressed on.

Gains of about three miles in the Kagi area and of about six miles to the Myola lakes in another advance were accompanied by Allied air activities which brought down three Japanese planes over the Buna intrusion base on New Guinea's southeast coast, and four more over enemy airfields at Rabaul, New Britain.

In the Aleutian islands, the Nipponese also were paying heavily for footholds. American forces which Saturday announced occupation of the Andreanof group of islands between Dutch Harbor and Kiska have smashed daily with explosives and incendiaries on the enemy's Kiska camps and hangars. Five Japanese seaplanes were reported shot down.

S.S. OFFICERS WILL ATTEND ANNUAL SCHOOL

The Adams County Council of Christian Education will sponsor the annual Adams County Leadership Training school at St. James Lutheran church during November. It was officially announced today.

Two-hour classes will be held each evening from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock on November 2, 5, 9, 12, 16 and 19.

All Sunday School teachers and officers are eligible to enroll. Registration, the fee for which will be $1, will take place at the opening session on Monday evening, November 2.

Four principal courses will be taught by Dr. Ralph D. Heim, Dr. Raymond T. Stamm, Dr. Harvey D. Hoover and Mrs. Ira D. Henderson.

The courses follow: "Ways of Teaching," Doctor Heim; "The Use of Visual Aids in Christian Education," Mrs. Henderson; "The Christian Message For Our Present Day World," Doctor Stamm, and "A Study of the Gospel of John," International Sunday School lessons for January to March, 1943, Doctor Hoover.

Students, doing work assigned, recite, take examinations and upon completion of ten hours' work receive one unit of credit from the International Council of Religious Education.

C. C. Culp, of St. James Lutheran church, is dean of the school for the sixteenth successive year.

SCRAP HARVEST COLLECTION IS OVER 631 TONS

The Scrap Harvest campaign collections reported to date in Adams county total 631½ tons, it was disclosed at a meeting of county and local salvage committee leaders Monday evening at the court house with O. H. Benson, county salvage chairman, presiding.

With a number of communities not yet reported and only a few stating that their drives have been completed, the totals accumulated Monday evening showed 537 tons of scrap metal and 94½ tons of rubber have been gathered since the drive opened September 14.

Plans were discussed for coordinating the extended campaign with the current school and newspaper drives for salvage. Existing committees were directed to confer with school officials in their areas in consolidating campaign plans.

Community Reports

Reports submitted Monday evening included the following: McKnightstown-Cashtown-Seven Stars area, 31 tons of scrap sold and collections continuing; Buchanan Valley, 35 tons gathered; Fairfield, 32 tons gathered, not complete; East Berlin, 24½ tons collected with one-fourth of drive to be finished; New Oxford, 12 tons collected but only half finished; Biglerville, 32 tons collected and more promised; Littlestown, 11 tons; Gettysburg area, about 32 tons; Gardners, 16 tons; York Springs, 14 tons, half finished, and Arentsville, 19 tons.

Leo Storm was announced as the chairman for the Bonneauville area where the drive plans have just been organized.

Chairman Benson appealed to salvage committee members to urge

Red Troops Attack To Ease Blows
At Garrison

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Oct. 6 (AP)—Defenders of Stalingrad were reported holding firm today against three Nazi divisions in a flame-laced battle for a workers' settlement and Red Army troops fighting for relief of the garrison stabbed anew into the German left flank.

German artillery and mortar batteries heralded the opening of a series of attacks by the three divisions—totaling from 30,000 to 45,000 men. Swarms of dive-bombers and 100 tanks roared into the fight for the salient.

Prisoners told Red Army commanders that their officers feared to delay any further in their overdue plans to take the city. Colder nights have arrived on the Stalingrad front.

Repulse 22 Attacks

At one place the Germans hurled 22 attacks, but all were repulsed, the Communist party newspaper said.

German losses in the last 24 hours have been huge and the enemy failed to advance on any front, it was declared.

The Army newspaper Red Star said:

(The German high command said that a "progressive German attack" was wresting height after height from the Russians in the Caucasus. It mentioned gains specifically in the mountains northeast of Tuapse, Soviet Black sea Naval base, and along the Terek river.

"In Stalingrad," the communique said, "the German attack in embittered fighting has made a further advance."

"Shock troops of the Army were effectively supported by German bomber formations."

Nazis Dissatisfied

"Northwest of the city a second Soviet group was encircled. "On the Don front, Rumanian, Italian and Hungarian troops frustrated several attempts of the Soviets to cross the river, and repelled Soviet thrusts."

S.S. OFFICERS WILL ATTEND
ANNUAL SCHOOL

The Adams County Council of Christian Education will sponsor the annual Adams County Leadership Training school at St. James Lutheran church during November, it was officially announced today.

Two-hour classes will be held each evening from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock on November 2, 5, 9, 12, 16 and 19. All Sunday School teachers and officers are eligible to enroll. Registration, the fee for which will be $1, will take place at the opening session on Monday evening, November 2.

Four principal courses will be taught by Dr. Ralph D. Heim, Dr. Raymond T. Stamm, Dr. Harvey D. Hoover and Mrs. Ira D. Henderson.

The courses follow: "Ways of Teaching," Doctor Heim; "The Use of Visual Aids in Christian Education," Mrs. Henderson; "The Christian Message For Our Present Day World," Doctor Stamm, and "A Study of the Gospel of John," International Sunday School lessons for January to March, 1943, Doctor Hoover.

Students doing work assigned, recite, take examinations and upon completion of ten hours' work receive one unit of credit from the International Council of Religious Education.

C. C. Culp, of St. James Lutheran church, is dean of the school for the sixteenth successive year.

Invaders
Battered Trying To Hold Areas

By JOHN H. WIGGINS

Washington, Oct. 6 (AP)—Fresh evidence that Japanese footholds in New Guinea, the Solomon islands and the Aleutians were becoming traps of destruction for the invader's troops, planes and ships emerged today out of new Allied successes in the battle of the Pacific.

On the three strategic fronts Allied and American airforces shot down a total of 22 Japanese planes within the last week, damaged two more, blew up a supply ship, bombed a destroyer out of commission, hit two cargo ships, strafed barges and blasted enemy camps, ground forces and installations.

The costly price of Japanese activity in the Solomons was demonstrated in a Navy Department report yesterday. The communique, covering four days of action up to October 3, reported destruction of 10 enemy planes, boosting the total shot down in this war theater to 229 to date.

Amid frequent clashes with enemy patrols, U. S. Marines prevented any major changes in their hard-won positions on Guadalcanal but the Japanese succeeded in landing small troop reinforcements at night. Four enemy destroyers, seeking to cover a small landing at Viru harbor, became a target for U. S. dive bombers and torpedo planes and one of the warships was left "dead in the water," the Navy said. No American losses were reported.

Gain 6 Miles

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Australian headquarters told of further advances by Australian jungle troops in New Guinea. Still without contacting the Nipponese, the ground forces pushed past Kagi, last community south of the mile-high gap in the towering Owen Stanley mountain range, and pressed on.

Gains of about three miles in the Kagi area and of about six miles to the Myola lakes in another advance were accompanied by Allied air activities which brought down three Japanese planes over the Buna invasion base on New Guinea's southeast coast, and four more over enemy airfields at Rabaul, New Britain.

In the Aleutian islands, the Nipponese also were paying heavily for footholds. American forces which Saturday announced occupation of the Andreanof group of islands between Dutch Harbor and Kiska have smashed daily with explosives and incendiaries on the enemy's Kiska camps and hangars. Five Japanese seaplanes were reported shot down.

CONCERT DINNER
SESSION TONIGHT

Committee members, team captains and workers of the Gettysburg Concert Association will assemble at a dinner-meeting at the Hotel Gettysburg this evening at 6:30 o'clock to complete plans for the membership campaign that gets underway Wednesday morning.

The captains include: Mrs. Earl Bowen, chairman of the membership committee; Mrs. Thomas L. Cline, Mrs. Carrie Stauffer, Mrs. Frank Kramer, Mrs. J. E. Sanderson, Mrs. Paul Kinsey, Mrs. Lester Johnson, Mrs. Rudolph Rosenstengel, Mrs. Ellen Tipton Buehler and Parker Wagnild.

VESTRY MEETING

There will be a meeting of the members of the vestry and associate vestry of the Prince of Peace Episcopal church, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

DAMAGE CLAIM HEARING HELD

Hearings were resumed this morning at the court house in the series of eight damage claims filed by owners of properties affected by the relocation of the Western Maryland railroad last year between Guilford and Brush Run.

George M. Walter, Esq., LeRoy H. Winebrenner and David Sheely sat as a board of viewers this morning in the case in which Jacob T. and Miss Etta K. King, Mt. Pleasant township, are the claimants for damages to their 42-acre farm. John P. Butt, Esq., represented the Kings.

Miss King testified this morning the re-located railroad cuts off more than 30 acres of the farm from the buildings with no means of access except a single dangerous crossing. About 1.7 acres of land were taken by the relocation, it was brought out.

Miss King valued the farm at $60,000 before the re-location and at $3,000 now. Real estate men and bankers were called into testify as to before and after values of the farm. Their estimates ranged from $3,000 to $5,000 before to from $1,886 to $2,000 after the change.

Other hearings are to be held as follows: Wednesday, the Heverly property; October 13, Osborne property; October 15, Mackley property, and October 16, G. N. Waters property.

TELLS ROTES OF EUROPE IN '39

Prof. William F. Quillian, Jr., member of the Gettysburg college faculty, took the local Rotarians in a visit to the Europe of 1938-39 in a talk delivered before the club Monday evening in the Y. W. C. A. building, center square.

Speaking on the topic, "University Students of Pre-War Europe," Professor Quillian discussed the differences he found in college life abroad and in the United States. He referred to the frugality of the students' living conditions in Europe. He also pointed out that students abroad specialized in some subject and he contrasted this practice with the custom of students in this country taking a general academic course and later specializing at a graduate school.

Germans Worried
Professor Quillian was in Germany at the time Hitler made the statement in which he said that it would be necessary to annex part of Czechoslovakia. The speaker said the German people at that time expressed concern about the extent of Hitler's plans. The people also were worried about the possible relations of Germany with other European countries as a result of this expansion program.

The speaker indicated that his conversations with Germans revealed they were pleased with the territorial gains of their country, but were worried about the future of Germany as a result of the Hitler program.

Professor Quillian, having spent some time in Switzerland, Germany and Great Britain, told the Rotarians some of the customs that prevail in those countries.

DEATH

Lawrence J. Myers
Lawrence J. Myers, veteran of World War No. 1, died Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at his home in Conewago township, along the Hanover-Gettysburg highway, Hanover R. 4.

His body was discovered lying near the garage by Mrs. Myers. Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, investigated and attributed death to cerebral hemorrhage.

The deceased was a son of Vincent and Mary Lawrence Myers. Mr. Myers had been a machinist by trade. He was inducted into the Army on September 19, 1917, and was stationed at Camp Meade, Maryland, before going overseas on July 9, 1918. He fought in the battles of Verdun and St. Mihiel and was wounded in the latter conflict October 23, 1918. He was returned to the United States December 11, 1918, and at the end of the war was mustered out with the rank of corporal. Mr. Myers was a member of Company G, 16th Pioneer Regiment.

He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic church, McSherrystown, and of the Holy Name society of that church. Fraternally he was affiliated with the McSherrystown aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles; the Hanover Home Association and was a member of the Irishtown Fire company.

Surviving are his widow, who before marriage was Cleopas Hagerman; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Myers, Hanover; and the following brothers and sisters: Charles Myers, Mrs. Elmer Stener, George Myers, John Myers, Mrs. Joseph McAlvo, all of Hanover, and Paul Myers, Lancaster.

The funeral will be held at the late home at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning, followed by a requiem mass at 9 o'clock in St. Mary's Catholic church, McSherrystown. The rector, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick F. McGee, will be the celebrant. Burial will be made in St. Mary's cemetery, McSherrystown.

Speaks for Parents
Recalling the start of the War Stamp sale 41 weeks ago, Samuel G. Spangler, president of the Times and News Publishing company, told the boys and girls their work is appreciated by the community and by the government. He said he hopes the carriers will go over the top on the quota for the county.

The Rev. H. S. Sternat, Biglerville, father of one of the carriers, spoke for the parents of the newsboys present at the dinner. He said the parents appreciate The Times' response to the government's call for help. The business training received by the carriers on their routes also is appreciated, the Rev. Mr. Sternat said. He lauded the encouragement The Times has given the boys and girls and added that in association with the parents he hopes the carriers continue to get that support and that the day may be hastened when peace will come again.

Third in State

Carl A. Baum, manager of The Gettysburg Times, said that the newspaper organization shares with the parents their pride in the achievements of the boys and girls. He pointed out that many of The Times' carriers wanted to take part in the War Stamp campaign, but were prevented from doing so because of ration difficulties and other causes. As of September 20, Mr. Baum said, The Times carriers ranked third among 89 daily newspapers in the state in respect to sale of stamps according to percentage of population. Mr. Baum also indicated that the total sales by the carriers here amounted in each case to more than those turned in by carriers in Lebanon, Scranton and for the Philadelphia Record or the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Set New Record
Mr. Baum announced the War Stamp sales for Newspaper Boy Day as follows:

C. Arthur Brame, Jr.	45,432
James Bucher, Aspers	17,104
Robert Sternat, Biglerville	14,577
Luther A. Smith	10,487
Robert Kime, Bendersville	9,942

Sheely Lauds Carriers
Judge W. C. Sheely, president-judge of the Adams and Fulton county courts, was unable to be present at the dinner. He sent the following message that was read Monday evening:

"I am glad you are honoring your news boys, not only because of the wonderful work they are doing in the sale of defense stamps and bonds, but also because many of us have failed to realize the important daily service which these boys perform. Reading the newspaper at a certain time each day has become an important part of our daily life, which would be impossible were it not for the faithfulness and the energy of the newsboys. Performing an important daily public service, it is only natural that they would likewise engage in the patriotic service of stamp and bond sales. I am sure the community joins me in congratulating the boys for the work they are doing."

Capt. Francis T. Snyder, of Gettysburg, who recently returned from Egypt where he served as a tank instructor, was introduced to the gathering. He will report to Fort Knox, Kentucky, for duty soon.

FAIRFIELD MAY GET FACTORY

Members of the Fairfield Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting Monday evening, heard a Hanover manufacturer express a willingness and a desire to locate a shoe factory in that Adams county borough.

The Hanoverian, L. E. Beaudin, president of the Beaudin Shoe company, outlined the steps to be taken by the Fairfield Chamber of Commerce and the residents of the borough and surrounding territory to secure a shoe factory.

Warren R. Jones, president of the Fairfield C. of C., presided during the meeting. He urged the citizens of the community to back the newly-organized Chamber of Commerce and lend their full support to any undertaking. He recited the program of improvements that were made in Littlestown and sketched the possibilities for Fairfield.

A goal of 300 members has been set by the C. of C. Anyone interested in joining the organization is urged to contact Earl McGlaughlin or H. L. Harbaugh, who represent the membership committee. Monday evening's meeting was held in the Fairfield community hall.

Fairfield Driver To Face Charges

Pvt. M. H. Cullen, of the Chambersburg substation, stated a charge of driving too fast for conditions would be filed against Russell J. Baker, 22, Fairfield, as the result of the sideswiping collision of two cars going in the opposite direction on a Washington township road, Franklin county, near Pennersville, at 10:45 Sunday night.

The Baker auto, after allegedly striking the car driven by Oscar W. Gladhill, Jr., 18, Fairfield R. 1, continued for a distance of 100 feet and struck a wooden picket fence on the property of Benton Shockey. Damages incurred in the collision were $50 to the Baker auto, $10 to the Gladhill vehicle and $10 to the fence.

Harold M. Smith, Gettysburg R. D., 178 stamps.

At the end of the war, each carrier who has taken part in the War Stamp campaign for six months will receive a certificate of merit from the Treasury department.

Bronze shield, 187 stamps; silver bar, 562 stamps; gold bar, 1,312 stamps; second gold bar, 2,062 stamps; third gold bar, 2,812 stamps; fourth gold bar, 3,562 stamps; fifth gold bar, 4,312 stamps; emblem—one star with tank, 5,062 stamps; emblem—two stars with plane, 12,562 stamps; emblem—three stars with battleship, 20,062 stamps; emblem—four stars with white victory "V", 38,812, and emblem—five stars with blue "V", 76,312 stamps.

There were 83 persons in attendance at the dinner.

Sells Bonds At Church Services

The Foursquare Gospel church, West Middle street, is actively supporting the War Stamp and Bond drive in the community, according to an announcement by the pastor, the Rev. H. L. Myers.

The Rev. Mr. Myers disclosed that $500 worth of stamps and bonds were sold after the Sunday service. At the international convention of the Foursquare church held in Los Angeles last June, more than $1,000,000 worth of stamps and bonds were sold, Rev. Myers said.

The local congregation also is participating in the scrap-collection campaign, the pastor said. Members will take their scrap donations to the church this week.

Two Rookies Help Cardinals Spank Yankees In Final Game To Clinch Series

BY GAYLE TALBOT
New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—If it were not for the probability that the war will break it up, the St. Louis Cardinals club that wrecked the New York Yankees yesterday might within a few years go tearing on to win ranking with the greatest teams in baseball history.

It is a son-of-a-gun of a baseball club—much better than anyone suspected even when it was running wild in the closing stages of the National league race. There is no team in either league at this time with anything approaching the all-round punch, pitching and polish of the new world champions.

On the off chance that somebody might think we are going overboard, a few figures might be in order:

Home-Stroke Record.
Through yesterday's deciding game at the stadium, which was won by 4-2 on a two-run homer by George Kuroski, rookie third baseman, in the ninth inning, the Cardinals won 47 of their last 57 contests in 1942. That comes to an average of .824.

They slugged their way to victory in their last six games in the league race, passed only to drop the series opener in St. Louis, then battered the Yankees in four straight. Some time, some team might have set a comparable record, but forgive us if we doubt that the competition was as tough.

With all respect for the Brooklyn Dodgers, it would have been a shame if the Cards' sensational charge had fallen short of the pennant. Two capacity crowds in St. Louis and three vast gatherings of nearly 70,000 here would have been deprived of a baseball treat to be treasured.

Doubtful Dodgers.
It is doubtful the Dodgers could have beaten the Yankees. They lacked pitching. The Cardinals not only had dash and color but also possessed great pitching. Mort Cooper, their biggest winner, was slugged from the box twice by the Yanks, yet they had the men who could take up the slack in Johnny Beazley, Ernie White and Max Lanier.

Beazley, the solemn 23-year-old rookie from Nashville, who defeated the Yankees in the second game to square the series and then came back to clinch the championship yesterday, probably deserved to be called the series star. He pitched great games and showed an astonishing store of poise.

But the Cardinals' line-up was studded with stars. It strictly was a team victory.

Kuroski's Homer.
Take Kuroski, the rookie third sacker from Reading, Pa. His homer yesterday was little more important than the triple he smacked in the second game to drive in a run and throw the Yankees into a tantrum of umpire-baiting from which they never recovered.

Or Terry Moore, the team's great captain and center-fielder. In the course of the series he made two of the most spectacular catches ever seen to stifle Yankee rallies and generally lent support to the claim that he is the equal of Joe DiMaggio. He singled and later scored the sixth-inning run that tied the count at 2-2 yesterday and set the stage for Kuroski's winning wallop.

Or Enos Slaughter, who saved two games with marvelous plays, one a dead-eye duck peg to third base from right field and the other a leaping catch of what should have been a homerun by Charley Keller.

To top off his fine performance, he slugged a fourth-inning homer into the deep right field stands off Red Ruffing yesterday to equalize a four-bagger with which little Phil Rizzuto had greeted Beazley in the opening round.

Gordon Collapses.
And then there was White, the southpaw, who blanked the Yankees 2 to 0 in the third game; and Walker Cooper, who out-starred Bill Dickey behind the plate, climaxing his efforts with a snap peg that caught Joe Gordon off second base in the ninth inning yesterday.

And Marty Marion, the towering Cardinal shortstop who was brilliant in every game, and Jimmy Brown and Johnny Hopp and Stan Musial. Each contributed exactly the right amount to the triumph. For the most part, they did not display the distance-hitting qualities of the Yankees, but each of them seemed to hit or come up with a great play when it was needed most.

READING WILL FETE KUROWSKI

Reading, Pa., Oct. 6 (AP)—There'll be a hot time one of these nights in the old town of Whitey Kuroski, the rookie hero of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals.

The lad who lined out the $180,000 homer that gave the Cards the series is due home from St. Louis in a few days and he'll get the glad hand at a civic testimonial, a theater appearance and an American Legion celebration.

The city council, no less, meets in special session this week to complete the details.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Columnist

New York, Oct. 6—You'd be surprised at how many folks hereabouts think they won't have another chance to see a World series for a long time. . . . Maybe that explains those tremendous crowds at the stadium—and the polite handclapping that greeted each Yank as he made his first appearance at the plate yesterday. . . . The fans seemed to be saying: "Well, we won't be seeing you again, but you were good guys when you had it." . . . Probably half of each squad will be in the armed forces before another season, but Whitey Kuroski's trick arm likely will keep him out. . . . It won't make the Yankees any happier if they have to meet him another time. . . . Come to think of it, those 23-year-old Cardinal kids ought to make ball players when they grow up.

TODAY'S GUEST STARS
Frank Graham, New York Sun: "Those who said that the Cardinals would give the Yankees a terrific tussle now are revealed as having been guilty of an understatement."
Ben Wahrman, Richard News-Leader: "Who would have thought it? . . . Billy Southworth thought it."

EXPERT OPINION
Looks as if old Mike Gonzales was the champion series forecaster. . . . He said: "Maybe we lose one, maybe two, but no more." . . . This department hit the number of games right on the nose—but had the wrong team and plenty of company in picking the Yanks. . . . Only five of the experts polled by the A. P. before the series named the Cards and no one said fewer than six games for them.

SERVICE DEPT.
Norman Rabio, the Albany, New York, welterweight who recently enlisted in the Marines, has two brothers in the services and one of them recently was reported missing in action. . . . Lieut. Dick Amerline, the former Kansas footballer who killed Japs with rocks and his pistol barrel after falling out of his plane in the Solomons, will be guest of honor at the Kansas-Oklahoma game October 17. . . . Middleweight Champ Tony Zale has landed at the Norfolk Naval Training station waiting transfer to another post.

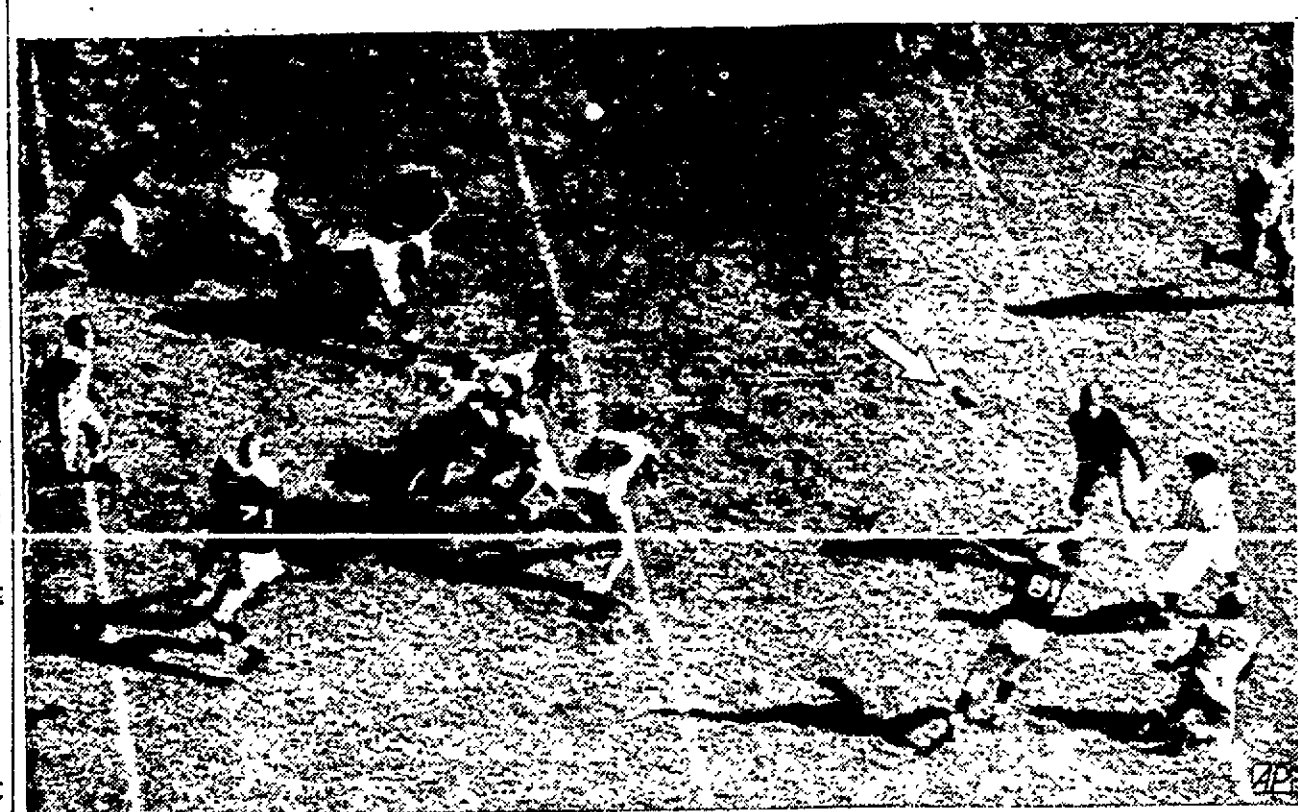

CLEANING THE CUFF
Joe Gordon must have had that roller-coaster feeling during the World series. Last year he hit .500 for a record. This year his average was .095. . . . Johnny Beazley started out as an amateur boxer and won three fights in a Nashville Golden Gloves tournament before his mother made him quit. . . . He's still a pretty good fighter on the mound. . . . The Dodgers' Dixie Walker has a new job as recreation director of a big defense plant on Long Island. . . . Ted Husing has been re-elected president of the Sportscasters' association. . . . Minor league view of the series: Just before Sunday's game, a scribe from Springfield, Massachusetts, asked: "Do you really think there are more people here than the Ruffs drew in two seasons?"

Former College Star Is Arrested
Philadelphia, Oct. 6 (AP)—William Rulon Marnie, baseball and basketball star at Drexel Institute during the early 1930's, was held in $5,000 bail today on a charge of embezzling $6,000 from the Corn Exchange National Bank.

"I bet on too many horses that ran third," U. S. Commissioner Norman J. Griffin quoted him as saying at a hearing. . . . Marnie, 36, was manager of the bank's coin department.

ANGOTT INJURES HAND
Louisville, Ky., Oct. 6 (AP)—Charley Jones, manager of Lightweight Boxing Champion Sammy Angott, announced Saturday that his fighter had injured his right hand in a New Orleans bout Wednesday night and would be unable to meet Allie Stolz of Newark, N. J., in their scheduled fight in New York on November 13.

Penn Takes To Air To Beat Harvard

A University of Pennsylvania pass intended for Penn's Capt. Bernard Kuczyński (No. 66) misses its mark in the opening quarter of the Penn-Harvard game at Cambridge, Mass., when Bill Barnes (No. 81), Harvard end, came in quickly to knock the ball down. Penn went on to win the game 19 to 7.

TRONDHEIM IS CLAMPED SHUT BY NAZI EDICT

London, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Vichy radio broadcast a report today that a state of emergency was proclaimed at 5 a. m. today throughout the province of Trondheim, Norway, because of sabotage.

The Germans had compelled thousands of Norwegians and Danes to work on harbor installations, airfields and coastal defenses in Trondheim province under a "work-or-starve" edict. There have been many reports of sabotage there and the present measure apparently followed a new outbreak.

The Vichy radio said that a curfew was imposed on all Norwegians between 8 p. m. and 5 a. m. and public buildings, restaurants and places of entertainment were ordered closed daily at 7 p. m. Public assemblies were forbidden.

Norwegians in London were unable to confirm the order, but they said it had been expected because "Trondheim has been an area of wide unrest with repeated fights between workers and German guards and numerous arrests for sabotage."

"There have been many fires recently in buildings occupied by German officials and one large food dump was destroyed," these sources said. It was the second state of emergency proclaimed in Norway. A similar measure was imposed in Oslo in September, 1941, after a series of fires and sabotage. More than 1,000 persons were arrested then and two Norwegians were executed. Twelve others were sentenced to life imprisonment.

WILLKIE SEES STUDENTS

Tonsilectomy Cured Beazley

New Orleans, Oct. 6 (AP)—Johnny Beazley was about ready to quit baseball two years ago after three seasons as a bush leaguer whose back hurt every time he cut loose with his fast one.

That's just what he did, and the doc was right. "I got my biggest baseball thrill," said Hurth, "as I sat in St. Louis and watched that rookie beat the Yankees in the second game of the World Series. When in trouble, ice water really flowed in his veins."

Beazley is now 23.

Scrap Collection Totals 71,499 Tons

Harrisburg, Oct. 6 (AP)—Latest county reports boosted total statewide scrap collections today to 71,499 tons as the result of week-end contributions of 5,082 tons.

The ten leading counties were Philadelphia 11,945 tons (revised), Allegheny 4,683, Lehigh 4,438 one-fifth, Chester 3,697, Berks 3,600, Crawford 3,400, York 2,370; Luzerne 2,356, Lancaster 2,347 and Montgomery 2,003.

World Series Notes

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—Wrapping up the World Series for another year, and possibly longer:

The Yankees are old hands at traveling, but they saw so much "Country" the past few days, they don't care for any "Moore" . . . Enos (Country) Slaughter and Terry Moore, the crack guardians of the Cardinals' outer regions, robbed the Yankees of base hits with circus catches in every game and divided ten hits between them . . . The honor of beating the Yanks twice in the World Series competition now is shared by the Cardinals and the New York Giants . . . The Cards also handed the Bombers their last series defeat in 1926, while the Giants turned them back in the 1921 and 1922 classics.

If you're wondering why Manager Joe McCarthy didn't order Whitey Kuroski passed intentionally in the ninth inning yesterday, with only one out, a man on second and two weak hitters coming up, remember that this same Kuroski fanned the first three times he faced Red Ruffing in the opening game . . . When Kuroski socked his game-winning homer, McCarthy probably was wondering the same thing . . . The bat he used to sew up the series was the only one Kuroski brought from St. Louis, his others having been broken in the regular season . . . He wouldn't let any of his mates use it in batting practice and after the game he refused to let it out of his sight.

Before yesterday's game, Lefty Gomez made numerous inquiries among sports writers about press box routine, including the fundamentals of scoring . . . maybe the veteran southpaw, who knows how to sling the king's English, is planning to become a sports writer when he reaches the end of his playing career, which appears to be not far off . . . The Yanks relied entirely on right-handed pitching, marking the first time since 1922, when they also did it, that a team has gone through a World Series without pitching a left-hander. The Cards established some kind of a record by scoring in their last turn at bat in every game.

Long after the mighty throng had poured from the stadium following yesterday's final contest, a lone figure emerged and trudged slowly along the street, tired and forlorn in the gathering dusk. . . . A small boy ran up to him, holding out a program . . . The man stopped and photographed it for the lad. . . . "Who's that?" inquired another youngster who had watched the procedure . . . "Joe McCarthy," replied the young autograph seeker . . . McCarthy smiled as two sports writers walked up to extend their condolences . . . "It ain't so bad," said the manager of the beaten Yankees, "they still want my autograph."

Barbados was the only foreign land ever visited by George Washington.

LIQUOR STORE CLERK STRIKE IS SPREADING

Harrisburg, Oct. 6 (AP)—Efforts to reopen the state's closed liquor stores "in a peaceful and orderly fashion" were pledged to Governor James today by the Liquor Control Board.

Many stores in Philadelphia and in the Pittsburgh area closed Saturday after 325 clerks staged a work holiday demonstration for higher wages. All clerks involved were ordered suspended by Frederick T. Gelder, chairman of the board, and some stores did not reopen.

In Pittsburgh Jack Stroebel, acting president of the local union there, said: "Governor James and his Liquor Control Board have locked out employees. This is his bitter, last-ditch anti-union stand and it has already cost taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars. We expect the strike to spread to include all of western Pennsylvania."

Ask Pay Increase
The clerks, through the State County and Municipal Workers union (CIO) have asked for a 20 per cent wage hike. Present salaries are: First year, $1,200; second year, $1,260; third year, $1,320; and $1,380 thereafter. Higher salaries for store managers also were sought.

Governor James said "the next move is up to those who counseled the liquor board employees to use violence rather than logic in supporting their claims." He added: "What they have done is exactly what the leadership of this nation has most eloquently urged them to refrain from doing."

"1. They have demanded wholesale salary increases in the face of the national drive to prevent runaway inflation, and on the very day when President Roosevelt undertook to freeze wages."

"2. They have undertaken to enforce their demands by a tumultuous labor demonstration, whether they chose to call it a strike or not, during a time when public opinion and national advice is against such tactics."

BOMBER CRASHES

Akron, O., Oct. 6 (AP)—Two Army air force boards investigated Monday the mysterious crash of a medium bomber in which Sgt. James T. Golby of Match Chunk, Pa., was killed. A motor failed just after the plane took off from the Akron airport Saturday night and the craft burst into flames as it plummeted to the ground.

Low-Priced Cards To Get $6,192.50 Each As Champs

By SID FEDER
New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—A bunch of St. Louis Cardinals came bustling out of Yankee stadium, still bolsterous at winning the world series, brushed off the cab drivers and headed for the subway and the nickel ride back to their hotel.

That is as good a way as any of leading into the possibility that all that "gallantry" and "zany-ness" of the crash-house gang came from that $6,192.50 waiting for each player at the finish of the 1942 series—and the Cards are a lean, hungry team.

This, incidentally, is not trying to take a thing away from the running Redbirds. They hit when they had to. They run when it counted.

$4,000 for Losers.
But the reports are that the top-priced player on the young St. Louis outfit draws down about $10,000. This would be Terry Moore, the ghost of center field.

On the other hand, the Yankees are the highest priced club in baseball, with a payroll estimated at $300,000. Their average salary is somewhere near $10,000.

Of course it's true that at contract time last spring there were only two or three really established stars on the Cardinal roster and Lon Warneke, who was one of them, was sold during the year.

But there was more than $6,000 waiting for each winner in this series and around $4,000 for the loser.

To the well-fed, well-paid Yankees the cash difference wasn't so great, but the Cardinals absolutely burst into flame for that kind of money.

When you come down to it the Yankees outlit the Cards for the five game set, the Bombers' pitching wasn't so bad although they had no left hander and defensively the Yanks committed only five errors to 10 for the Cards.

Where was the difference? You might ask the guys who make up the payrolls on the two clubs about that.

LOOKING AROUND
By DON BREAN

Gettysburg high school is in for another tough game here Friday evening when Waynesboro's undefeated team will be the opposing team. Last Friday the Golden Tornado defeated Carlisle 12-0, a team which the Maroons laced 25-0 a week earlier. Waynesboro was clearly the superior team and was never threatened. The Tornado piled up nine first downs and yielded its opponents but three. Sparkplug for the victors was West who tallied both touchdowns, one in the second and another in the fourth period.

The column reached a new low in football forecasting last week as the result of a number of upsets. Of 25 selections only 12 were right and one ended in a tie. The season's total is now 27 right, 16 wrong and two ties.

Cadet John "Buck" Stahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stahl, York street, broke into the Army lineup Saturday when the West Pointers defeated Lafayette 14-0. "Buck" played approximately three-quarters of the game and started the second half. Stahl formerly starred for Gettysburg high school and attended Gettysburg college for two years. He was not a candidate for the Army team last year but in 1940 starred in several games.

Coach Leroy Byham, who has termed the "whole thing as unfortunate," has announced he has no intention of protesting officially the pass interference penalty which occurred in the Western Maryland-Gettysburg game here Saturday. The penalty set the stage for the Bullets to tally touchdown with but three minutes to play remaining to give the Bream-men victory. The vigorously protested play came when, with the Terrors leading 10-7, Hardy passed over the end zone to Yovisic. Manny Kaplan was covering "Yovisic" on the play and seemingly was "riding" him from the rear and a photo of the play indicates that Kaplan may have been holding Yovisic's arm. It may be significant that Kaplan was one of the few Terror players who did not offer a protest when the play was ruled interference. The ball was placed on the 1-yard stripe from where the Bullets scored on the next play.

Pick Montgomery To Beat Shapiro
Philadelphia, Oct. 6 (AP)—Bob Montgomery, Philadelphia's outstanding contender for the lightweight boxing championship, ruled a 7 to 5 favorite today to beat Maxie Shapiro, of New York, in their 10-rounder at the Arena tonight.

A hammer-and-tong fight was forecast after Promoter Herman Taylor said he planned to sign the winner with Ray "Sugar" Robinson, New York welterweight.

Caroline Fatta, of New York, and Leon Haire, of Philadelphia, are paired in a 10-round semi-windup.

80 DISMISSED WORKERS SEEK STATE BACK PAY

Harrisburg, Oct. 6 (AP)—Appeals of 80 dismissed Pennsylvania tax workers for back pay came before the General Claims board today (at 10 a. m.) as a result of a dispute between the auditor general and the secretary of revenue over the collection of state inheritance and mercantile taxes.

Dr. Edward B. Logan, secretary of revenue, has called for dismissal of 126 such employees, appointed by Auditor General F. Clair Ross, as unnecessary. Eighty, mostly from Philadelphia, were discharged. They then filed appeals. Ross, Democratic candidate for Governor, called the move "Republican agitation" and said the employees by working "promptly, efficiently and economically" had boosted collections.

James Scores Ross
Although Ross and State Treasurer G. Harold Wagner, only Democratic officeholders in the capitol, are the sole members of the claims board, both planned to follow past procedure and stay away, letting representatives handle the meeting.

Previously Governor James who has conducted a correspondence with Ross over an audit of the Revenue department in which Ross said he found irregularities, said: "I notice . . . you have introduced a new and novel element into audit reports—that of giving them publicity, not only before the department itself has replied to the criticisms but, in the current instance, even before the report reached the Governor's hands."

The audit involved covered the fiscal period ended May 31, 1941. The Governor said he was referring Ross' criticisms of the department's bad check section to Dr. Logan "for his investigation and report to me."

Ross charged the bad check section "is, in fact, selling automobile registration plates and operators' license on the installment plan."

James has objected to the delay in reporting the audit. He told Ross "there are those, undoubtedly, who will see some political significance in the fact that you are using these reports for publicity purposes, and others perhaps may think you are attacking Dr. Logan's department . . . in retaliation for some of the extremely well-founded criticisms he has made for your administration as auditor general."

8 SENTENCED, FINED $2,100
Pittsburgh, Oct. 6 (AP)—Eight men who pleaded guilty to lottery charges were sentenced to jail terms and fined $2,100 by Judge A. Marshall Thompson.

"District Attorney Russell H. Adams, who interrogated the men two hours before Judge Thompson imposed sentences, said they were members of the 'Christy gang,' which operated a numbers lottery. Adams said the 'Christy' numbers book was doing a $1,500,000-a-year business in Allegheny county—and he asked Judge Thompson to impose 'stern sentences.'"

Julius Prelesco, described by Adams as leader of the gang, was fined $500 and sentenced to five to 10 months in jail. Joseph Audio and Fred Grande each were fined $350 and sentenced to from 4 to 8 months.

Aloysius Lewandowski and Eugene Ferriest, were fined $300 each and given three to six months and Patsy Ditillo, Stanley Kostovich and James Miele were fined $100 apiece and sentenced to from one to two months.

"BLACK MARKET" ON GAS REPORTED

Philadelphia, Oct. 6 (AP)—The state office of price administration charged today that thousands of gallons of gasoline are being sold daily through a Philadelphia "black market" which uses stolen rationing books.

Unscrupulous dealers, buy stolen coupons and turn them in for gasoline which they sell above the ceiling price to motorists who have no books, the OPA said.

Myron M. Caffey, chief state inspector for OPA, said most of the stolen books apparently were taken from a rationing board office robbed last month. The board said 4,000 books, good for about 1,000,000 gallons, were missing.

Two Rookies Help Cardinals Spank Yankees In Final Game To Clinch Series

BY GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—If it were not for the probability that the war will break it up, the St. Louis Cardinals club that wrecked the New York Yankees yesterday might within a few years go tearing on to win ranking with the greatest teams in baseball history.

It is a son-of-a-gun of a baseball club—much better than anyone suspected even when it was running wild in the closing stages of the National league race. There is no team in either league at this time with anything approaching the all-around punch, pitching and polish of the new world champions.

On the off chance that somebody might think we are going overboard, a few figures might be in order:

Home-Stretch Record
Through yesterday's deciding game at the stadium, which was won by 4-2 on a two-run homer by George Kurovski, rookie third baseman, in the ninth inning, the Cardinals won 47 of their last 57 contests in 1942. That comes to an average of .824.

They slugged their way to victory in their last six games in the league race, paused only to drop the series opener in St. Louis, then battered the Yankees in four straight. Some time, some team might have set a comparable record, but forgive us if we doubt that the competition was as tough.

With all respect for the Brooklyn Dodgers, it would have been a shame if the Cards' sensational charge had fallen short of the pennant. Two capacity crowds in St. Louis and three vast gatherings of nearly 70,000 here would have been deprived of a baseball treat to be treasured.

Doubtful Dodgers
It is doubtful the Dodgers could have beaten the Yankees. They lacked pitching. The Cardinals not only had dash and color but also possessed great pitching. Mort Cooper, their biggest winner, was slugged from the box twice by the Yanks, yet they had the men who could take up the slack in Johnny Beazley, Ernie White and Max Lanier.

Beazley, the solemn 23-year-old rookie from Nashville, who defeated the Yankees in the second game to square the series and then came back to clinch the championship yesterday, probably deserved to be called the series star. He pitched great games and showed an astonishing store of poise.

But the Cardinals' line-up was studied with stars. It strictly was a team victory.

Kurovski's Homer
Take Kurovski, the rookie third sacker from Reading, Pa. His homer yesterday was little more important than the triple he smacked in the second game to drive in a run and throw the Yankees into a tantrum of umpire-baiting from which they never recovered.

Or Terry Moore, the team's great captain and center-fielder. In the course of the series he made two of the most spectacular catches ever seen to stifle Yankee rallies and generally lent support to the claim that he is the equal of Joe DiMaggio. He singled and later scored the sixth-inning run that tied the count at 2-2 yesterday and set the stage for Kurovski's winning walloper.

Or Enos Slaughter, who saved two games with marvelous plays, one a dead-eye kick peg to third base from right field and the other a leaping catch of what should have been a homerun by Charley Keller.

To top off his fine performance, he slugged a fourth-inning homer into the deep right field stands off Red Ruffing yesterday to equalize a four-bagger with which little Phil Rizzuto had greeted Beazley in the opening round.

Gordon Collapses
And then there was White, the southpaw, who blanked the Yankees 2 to 0 in the third game; and Walker Cooper, who out-starred Bill Dickey behind the plate, climaxing his efforts with a snap peg that caught Joe Gordon off second base in the ninth inning yesterday.

And Marty Marion, the towering Cardinal shortstop who was brilliant in every game, and Jimmie Brown and Johnny Hopp and Stan Musial. Each contributed exactly the right amount to the triumph. For the most part, they did not display the distance-hitting qualities of the Yankees, but each of them seemed to hit or come up with a great play when it was needed most.

As for the Yankees, they simply ran into a bunch of game, hard-playing, hungry youngsters. The most inexplicable collapse of the classic was by Joe Gordon, the Yank second baseman. Standout of the '41 series, Gordon made only two hits in 21 times at bat against Cardinal pitching and didn't shine particularly in the field.

READING WILL FETE KUROWSKI

Reading, Pa., Oct. 6 (AP)—There'll be a hot time one of these nights in the old town of Whitey Kurovski, the rookie hero of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals.

The lad who lined out the $180,000 homer that gave the Cards the series is due home from St. Louis in a few days and he'll get the glad hand at a civic testimonial, a theater appearance and an American Legion celebration.

The city council, no less, meets in special session this week to complete the details.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Wide World Columnist

New York, Oct. 6.—You'd be surprised at how many folks hereabouts think they won't have another chance to see a World series for a long time. . . . Maybe that explains those tremendous crowds at the stadium—and the polite handclapping that greeted each Yank as he made his first appearance at the plate yesterday. . . . The fans seemed to be saying: "Well, we won't be seeing you again, but you were good guys when you had it." . . . Probably half of each squad will be in the armed forces before another season, but Whitey Kurovski's trick arm likely will keep him out. . . . It won't make the Yankees any happier if they have to meet him another time. . . . Come to think of it, those 23-year-old Cardinal kids ought to make ball players when they grow up.

Frank Graham, New York Sun: "Those who said that the Cardinals would give the Yankees a terrific tussle now are revealed as having been guilty of an understatement." Ben Wahrman, Richard News-Leader: "Who would have thought it? . . . Billy Southworth thought it."

EXPERT OPINION
Looks as if old Mike Gonzales was the champion series forecaster. . . . He said: "Maybe we lose one, maybe two, but no more." . . . This department hit the number of games right on the nose—but had the wrong team and plenty of company in picking the Yanks. . . . Only five of the experts polled by the A. P. before the series named the Cards and no one said fewer than six games for them.

SERVICE DEPT.
Norman Rubio, the Albany, New York, welterweight who recently enlisted in the Marines, has two brothers in the services and one of them recently was reported missing in action. . . . Lieut. Dick Amerine, the former Kansas footballer who killed Japs with rocks and his pistol barrel after bailing out of his plane in the Solomons, will be guest of honor at the Kansas-Oklahoma game October 17. . . . Middleweight Champ Tony Zale has landed at the Norfolk Naval Training station waiting transfer to another post.

CLEANING THE CUFF
Joe Gordon must have had that roller-coaster feeling during the World series. Last year he hit .500 for a record, this year his average was .095. . . . Johnny Beazley started out as an amateur boxer and won three fights in a Nashville Golden Gloves tournament before his mother made him quit. . . . He's still a pretty good fighter on the mound.

The Dodgers' Dixie Walker has a new job as recreation director of a big defense plant on Long Island. Ted Husing has been re-elected president of the Sportscasters' association. . . . Minor league view of the series: Just before Sunday's game, a scribe from Springfield, Massachusetts, asked, "Do you realize there are more people here than the Rifles drew in two seasons?"

Former College Star Is Arrested
Philadelphia, Oct. 6 (AP)—William Rulon Marrie, baseball and basketball star at Drexel Institute during the early 1930's, was held in $5,000 bail today on a charge of embezzling $6,000 from the Corn Exchange National Bank.

"I bet on too many horses that ran third," U. S. Commissioner Norman J. Griffin quoted him as saying at a hearing.

Marrie, 36, was manager of the bank's coin department.

ANGOTT INJURES HAND
Louisville, Ky., Oct. 6 (AP)—Charley Jones, manager of Light-weight Boxing Champion Sammy Angott, announced Saturday that his fighter had injured his right hand in a New Orleans bout Wednesday night and would be unable to meet Allie Stolz of Newark, N. J., in their scheduled fight in New York on November 13.

Penn Takes To Air To Beat Harvard

A University of Pennsylvania pass intended for Penn's Capt. Bernard Kuczynski (No. 66) misses its mark in the opening quarter of the Penn-Harvard game at Cambridge, Mass., when Bill Barnes (No. 81), Harvard end, came in quickly to knock the ball down. Penn went on to win the game 19 to 7.

TRONDHEIM IS CLAMPED SHUT BY NAZI EDICT

London, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Vichy radio broadcast a report today that a state of emergency was proclaimed at 5 a. m. today throughout the province of Trondheim, Norway, because of sabotage.

The German commissar, Josef Terboven, was quoted by the radio as saying the "many acts of sabotage committed in Trondheim were possible only because the people broke the law forbidding help to saboteurs."

The Germans had compelled thousands of Norwegians and Danes to work on harbor installations, airfields and coastal defenses in Trondheim province under a "work-or-starve" edict. There have been many reports of sabotage there and the present measure apparently followed a new outbreak.

The Vichy radio said that a curfew was imposed on all Norwegians between 8 p. m. and 5 a. m. and public buildings, restaurants and places of entertainment were ordered closed daily at 7 p. m. Public assemblies were forbidden.

Norwegians in London were unable to confirm the order, but they said it had been expected because "Trondheim has been an area of wild unrest with repeated fights between workers and German guards and numerous arrests for sabotage."

"There have been many fires recently in buildings occupied by German officials and one large food dump was destroyed," these sources said.

It was the second state of emergency proclaimed in Norway. A similar measure was imposed in Oslo in September, 1941, after a series of fires and sabotage. More than 1,000 persons were arrested then and two Norwegians were executed. Twelve others were sentenced to life imprisonment.

WILLKIE SEES STUDENTS
Chungking, Oct. 6 (AP)—Wendell Willkie mingled for more than four hours Monday with students and faculty members at four Chungking government educational institutions, reiterating his message of "anti-imperialism" and receiving a spontaneous welcome that left him visibly affected. Eager, smiling Chinese students virtually overwhelmed Willkie with their manifestations of goodwill, cheering him again and again as he moved from building to building.

Tonsilectomy Cured Beazley
New Orleans, Oct. 6 (AP)—Johnny Beazley was about ready to quit baseball two years ago after three seasons as a bush leaguer whose back hurt every time he cut loose with his fast one.

That's just what he did, and the doc was right. "I got my biggest baseball thrill," said Hurth, "as I sat in St. Louis and watched that rookie beat the Yankees in the second game of the World Series. When in trouble, ice water really flowed in his veins."

"Then I got my second biggest thrill yesterday as he polished off New York again to clinch the World Series for the Cardinals. It was some performance for a major league freshman."

Beazley is now 23.

Scrap Collection Totals 71,499 Tons

Harrisburg, Oct. 6 (AP)—Latest county reports boosted total statewide scrap collections today to 71,499 tons as the result of week-end contributions of 5,082 tons.

The ten leading counties were Philadelphia 11,945 tons (revised), Allegheny 4,683, Lehigh 4,438 one-fifth, Chester 3,697, Berks 3,600, Crawford 3,400, York 2,370; Luzerne 2,356, Lancaster 2,347 and Montgomery 2,003.

World Series Notes

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—Wrapping up the World Series for another year, and possibly longer:

The Yankees are old hands at traveling, but they saw so much "Country" the past few days they don't care for any "Moore". Enos (Country) Slaughter and Terry Moore, the guard guardians of the Cardinals' outer regions, robbed the Yankees of base hits with circus catches in every game and divided ten hits between them. . . . The honor of beating the Yanks twice in World Series competition now is shared by the Cardinals and the New York Giants. . . . The Cards also handed the Bombers their last series defeat in 1926, while the Giants turned them back in the 1921 and 1922 classics.

If you're wondering why Manager Joe McCarthy didn't order Whitey Kurovski passed intentionally in the ninth inning yesterday, with only one out, a man on second and two weak hitters coming up, remember that this same Kurovski fanned the first three times he faced Red Ruffing in the opening game. . . . When Kurovski socked his game-winning homer, McCarthy probably was wondering the same thing. . . . The bat he used to sew up the series was the only one Kurovski brought from St. Louis, his others having been broken in the regular season. . . . He wouldn't let any of his mates use it in batting practice and let it out of his sight.

Before yesterday's game, Lefty Gomez made numerous inquiries among sports writers about press box routine, including the fundamentals of scoring. . . . maybe the veteran southpaw, who knows how to sling the king's English, is planning to become a sports writer when he reaches the end of his playing career, which appears to be not far off. . . . The Yanks relied entirely on right-handed pitching, marking the first time since 1922, when they also did it, that a team has gone through a World Series without pitching a left-hander. The Cards established some kind of a record by scoring in their last turn at bat in every game.

Long after the mighty throng had poured from the stadium following yesterday's final contest, a lone figure emerged and trudged slowly along the street, tired and forlorn in the gathering dusk. . . . A small boy ran up to him, holding out a program. . . . The man stopped and photographed it for the lad. . . . "Who's that?" inquired another youngster who had watched the procedure. . . . "Joe McCarthy," replied the young autograph seeker. . . . McCarthy smiled as two sports writers walked up to extend their condolences. . . . "It ain't so bad," said the manager of the beaten Yankees, "they still want my autograph."

Barbados was the only foreign land ever visited by George Washington.

LIQUOR STORE CLERK STRIKE IS SPREADING

Harrisburg, Oct. 6 (AP)—Efforts to reopen the state's closed liquor stores—in a peaceful and orderly fashion—were pledged to Governor James today by the Liquor Control Board.

Many stores in Philadelphia and in the Pittsburgh area closed Saturday after 325 clerks staged a work holiday demonstration for higher wages. All clerks involved were ordered suspended by Frederick T. Gelder, chairman of the board, and some stores did not reopen.

In Pittsburgh Jack Stroebel, acting president of the local union there, said: "Governor James and his Liquor Control Board have locked out employees. This is his bitter, last-ditch anti-union stand and it has already cost taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars. We expect the strike to spread to include all of western Pennsylvania."

Ask Pay Increase
The clerks, through the State, County and Municipal Workers union (CIO) have asked for a 20 per cent wage hike. Present salaries are: First year, $1,200; second year, $1,260; third year, $1,320; and $1,380 thereafter. Higher salaries for store managers also were sought.

Governor James said "the next move is up to those who counseled the liquor board employees to use violence rather than logic in supporting their claims." He added: "What they have done is exactly what the leadership of this nation has most eloquently urged them to refrain from doing."

"1. They have demanded wholesale salary increases in the face of the national drive to prevent 'run-away inflation,' and on the very day when President Roosevelt undertook to freeze wages."

"2. They have undertaken to enforce their demands by a tumultuous labor demonstration, whether they chose to call it a strike or not, during a time when public opinion and national advice is against such tactics."

BOMBER CRASHES
Akron, O., Oct. 6 (AP)—Two Army air force boards investigated Monday the mysterious crash of a medium bomber in which Sgt. James T. Golby of Mauch Chunk, Pa., was killed. A motor failed just after the plane took off from the Akron airport Saturday night and the craft burst into flames as it plummeted to the ground.

Pick Montgomery To Beat Shapiro
Philadelphia, Oct. 6 (AP)—Bob Montgomery, Philadelphia's outstanding contender for the lightweight boxing championship, ruled a 7 to 5 favorite today to beat Maxie Shapiro, of New York, in their 10-rounder at the Arena tonight.

A hammer-and-tong fight was forecast after Promoter Herman Taylor said he planned to sign the winner with Ray "Sugar" Robinson, New York welterweight.

Caroline Fatta, of New York, and Leon Haire, of Philadelphia, are paired in a 10-round semi-windup.

Glen Rock, N. J., Oct. 6 (AP)—Johnny Vander Meer of Midland Park pitched a 22-strikeout, 3-0 victory in a sandlot baseball game Sunday and then auctioned his Cincinnati Reds shirt for a $100 War Bond. He hurled the Midland Park All-Stars to victory over the Allendale Baseball club. Proceeds went to the Midland Park service men's gift fund.

Low-Priced Cards To Get $6,192.50 Each As Champs

By SID FEDER

New York, Oct. 6 (AP)—A bunch of St. Louis Cardinals came busting out of Yankee stadium, still bolsterous at winning the world series, brushed off the cab drivers and headed for the subway and the nickel ride back to their hotel.

That is as good a way as any of leading into the possibility that all that "gallantry" and "gameness" of the crash-house gang came from that $6,192.50 waiting for each player at the finish of the 1942 series—and the Cards are a lean, hungry team.

This, incidentally, is not trying to take a thing away from the running Redbirds. They hit when they had to. They ran when it counted.

$4,000 for Losers
But the reports are that the top-priced player on the young St. Louis outfit draws down about $10,000. This would be Terry Moore, the ghost of center field.

On the other hand, the Yankees are the highest priced club in baseball, with a payroll estimated at $300,000. Their average salary is somewhere near $10,000.

Of course it's true that at equivalent time last spring there were only two or three really established stars on the Cardinal roster and Lon Warneke, who was one of them, was sold during the year.

But there was more than $6,000 waiting for each winner in this series and around $4,000 for the loser.

To the well-fed, well-paid Yankees the cash difference wasn't so great, but the Cardinals absolutely burst into flame for that kind of money.

When you come down to it the Yankees outlit the Cards for the five game set, the Bombers' pitching wasn't so bad although they had no left hander and defensively the Yanks committed only five errors to 10 for the Cards.

Where was the difference? You might ask the guys who make up the payrolls on the two clubs about that.

8 SENTENCED, FINED $2,100

Pittsburgh, Oct. 6 (AP)—Eight men who pleaded guilty to lottery charges were sentenced to jail terms and fined $2,100 by Judge A. Marshall Thompson.

District Attorney Russell H. Adams, who interrogated the men two hours before Judge Thompson imposed sentences, said they were members of the "Christy" gang, which operated a numbers lottery. Adams said the "Christy" numbers book was doing a $1,500,000-a-year business in Allegheny county and he asked Judge Thompson to impose "stern sentences."

Julius Prezioso, described by Adams as leader of the gang, was fined $500 and sentenced to five to 10 months in jail. Joseph Audio and Fred Grande each were fined $350 and sentenced to from 4 to 8 months.

Aloysius Lewandowsky and Eugene Ferriest, were fined $300 each and given three to six months and Patsy Ditillo, Stanley Kostovich and James Miele were fined $100 apiece and sentenced to from one to two months.

LOW HONORS
Pittsburgh, Oct. 6 (AP)—A 76 by Morris Gravatt of the Sunnehanna Country club, Johnstown, and Mrs. Lee F. Mason, of Edgewood Country club, won low gross honors in the pro-woman alternate golf tourney at Edgewood Country club yesterday. Sixteen teams participated, second place going to Walter Phillips, of Butler's East park, and Mrs. A. M. Wiggins, who scored an 83.

STAN MUSIAL DAY
Donora, Pa., Oct. 6 (AP)—October 14 has been designated Stan Musial day here in honor of the young outfielder of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals.

A banquet will highlight the celebration. Stan is expected home after attending the celebration in St. Louis. His mother and father saw the last three games in New York.

4 APPEALS DENIED
Draft Board No. 1 at New Oxford has been informed that classification of four men who appealed their cases to the area Board of Appeal has been continued in the same classification as given originally by the local board. These three men were continued in 1-A: Donald Wolf Haffer, Abbotstown; Preston Harding Harman, East Berlin R. 1, and Paul Bushey Lerew, York Springs R. 1. Harold Emanuel Cluck, 47 Myrtle street, Littlestown, was continued in 4E.

80 DISMISSED WORKERS SEEK STATE BACK PAY

Harrisburg, Oct. 6 (AP)—Appeals of 80 dismissed Pennsylvania tax workers for back pay came before the General Claims board today (at 10 a. m.) as a result of a dispute between the auditor general and the secretary of revenue over the collection of state inheritance and mercantile taxes.

Dr. Edward B. Logan, secretary of revenue, has called for dismissal of 126 such employees, appointed by Auditor General F. Clair Ross, as unnecessary. Eighty, mostly from Philadelphia, were discharged. They then filed appeals. Ross, Democratic candidate for Governor, called the move "Republican agitation" and said the employees by working "promptly, efficiently and economically" had boosted collections.

James Scores Ross
Although Ross and State Treasurer G. Harold Wagner, only Democratic officeholders in the capitol, are the sole members of the claims board, both planned to follow past procedure and stay away, letting representatives handle the meeting.

Previously Governor James who has conducted a correspondence with Ross over an audit of the Revenue department in which Ross said he found irregularities, said: "I notice . . . you have introduced a new and novel element into audit reports—that of giving them publicity, not only before the department itself has replied to the criticisms but, in the current instance, even before the report reached the Governor's hands."

The audit involved covered the fiscal period ended May 31, 1941.

The Governor said he was referring Ross' criticisms of the department's bad check section to Dr. Logan "for his investigation and report to me."

Ross Charges
Ross has charged the bad check section "is, in fact, selling automobile registration plates and operators' license on the 'installment plan.'"

James has objected to the delay in reporting the audit. He told Ross "there are those, undoubtedly, who will see some political significance in the fact that you are using these reports for publicity purposes, and others perhaps may think you are attacking Dr. Logan's department. . . . in retaliation for some of the extremely well-founded criticisms he has made for your administration as auditor general."

"BLACK MARKET" ON GAS REPORTED
Philadelphia, Oct. 6 (AP)—The state office of price administration charged today that thousands of gallons of gasoline are being sold daily through a Philadelphia "black market" which uses stolen rationing books.

Unscrupulous dealers buy stolen coupons and turn them in for gasoline which they sell above the ceiling price to motorists who have no books, the OPA said.

Myron M. Caffey, chief state inspector for OPA, said most of the stolen books apparently were taken from a rationing board office rubbed last month. The board said 4,000 books, good for about 1,000,000 gallons, were missing.

DAMAGE CLAIM HEARING HELD

Hearings were resumed this morning at the court house in the series of eight damage claims filed by owners of properties affected by the relocation of the Western Maryland railroad last year between Guilford and Brush Run.

George M. Walter, Esq., LeRoy H. Winebrenner and David Sheely sat as a board of viewers this morning in the case in which Jacob T. and Miss Etta K. King, Mt. Pleasant township, are the claimants for damages to their 42-acre farm. John P. Butt, Esq., represented the Kings.

Miss King testified this morning the re-located railroad cuts off more than 30 acres of the farm from the buildings with no means of access except a single dangerous crossing. About 1.7 acres of land were taken by the relocation, it was brought out.

Miss King valued the farm at $6,000 before the re-location and at $3,000 now. Real estate men and bankers were called into testify as to before and after values of the farm. Their estimates ranged from $3,000 to $5,000 before to from $1,500 to $2,000 after the change.

Other hearings are to be held as follows: Wednesday, the Heverly property; October 13, Osborne property; October 15, Mackley property; and October 16, G. N. Waters property.

TELLS ROTES OF EUROPE IN '39

Prof. William F. Quillian, Jr., member of the Gettysburg college faculty, took the local Rotarians on a visit to the Europe of 1938-39 in a talk delivered before the club Monday evening in the Y. W. C. A. building, center square.

Speaking on the topic, "University Students of Pre-War Europe," Professor Quillian discussed the differences he found in college life abroad and in the United States. He referred to the frugality of the students' living conditions in Europe. He also pointed out that students abroad specialized in some subject and he contrasted this practice with the custom of students in this country taking a general academic course and later specializing at a graduate school.

Germans Worried

Professor Quillian was in Germany at the time Hitler made the statement in which he said that it would be necessary to annex part of Czechoslovakia. The speaker said the German people at that time expressed concern about the extent of Hitler's plans. The people also were worried about the possible relations of Germany with other European countries as a result of this expansion program.

The speaker indicated that his conversations with Germans revealed they were pleased with the territorial gains of their country, but were worried about the future of Germany as a result of the Hitler program.

Professor Quillian, having spent some time in Switzerland, Germany and Great Britain, told the Rotarians some of the customs that prevail in those countries.

DEATH

Lawrence J. Myers, veteran of World War No. 1, died Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at his home in Conewago township, along the Hanover-Gettysburg highway, Hanover R. 4.

His body was discovered lying near the garage by Mrs. Myers.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, investigated and attributed death to cerebral hemorrhage.

The deceased was a son of Vincent and Mary Lawrence Myers. Mr. Myers had been a machinist by trade. He was inducted into the Army on September 19, 1917, and was stationed at Camp Meade, Maryland, before going overseas on July 9, 1918. He fought in the battle of Verdun and St. Michel and was wounded in the latter conflict, October 23, 1918. He was returned to the United States December 11, 1918, and at the end of the war was mustered out with the rank of corporal. Mr. Myers was a member of Company G, 16th Pioneer Regiment.

He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic church, McSherrystown, and of the Holy Name society of that church. Fraternally he was affiliated with the McSherrystown aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, the Hanover Home Association and was a member of the Irwinston Fire company.

Surviving are his widow, who before marriage was Cleopas Hagerman; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Myers, Hanover; and the following brothers and sisters: Charles Myers, Mrs. Elmer Stener, George Myers, John Myers, Mrs. Joseph McAlroy, all of Hanover, and Paul Myers, Lancaster.

The funeral will be held at the late home at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning, followed by a requiem mass at 9 o'clock in St. Mary's Catholic church, McSherrystown.

The rector, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick F. McGee, will be the celebrant. Burial will be made in St. Mary's cemetery, McSherrystown.

GRANTED DIVORCE

Mrs. Helen C. Eyer, 36, Lancaster, was granted a divorce in Lancaster county courts recently from Owen A. Eyer, Pottsville, on grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment. Mrs. Eyer was the former Helen Gearhart of Blue Ridge Summit.

The city of Namur in Belgium, which formerly suffered from the overflowing of the Sambre and Meuse rivers, has been noted for its stilt-walkers for many centuries.

Weddings

Daniel Seymour, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Seymour, Bonneauville, and Miss Marie Todd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Todd, Centennial, were married in Conewago chapel last Saturday morning at a nuptial high mass celebrated at 7 o'clock. The Very Rev. John F. O'Donnell, rector, officiated.

They were attended by David Seymour, brother of the bridegroom, and Miss Sarah Todd, sister of the bride. The wedding marches by Mendelssohn and Wagner were played as processional and recessional, respectively. The bride wore a street-length dress of navy blue with corresponding accessories, and a corsage of white rosebuds and gardenias. Her sister wore a brown street-length dress, matching accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

A breakfast was served at the bride's home following the mass. Saturday evening a reception was held at the Todd home with a large number of guests in attendance.

Miss Phyllis Roomsburg and Herman L. Hull, both of East Berlin, were married Saturday evening in the parsonage of St. Mary's Reformed church, Silver Run, Maryland, by the pastor, the Rev. Albert E. Shenberger. They were unattended. The bride was attired in a soldier blue dress with black accessories, and wore a corsage of red rosebuds.

DONALD D. ECK
DIES SUDDENLY

Donald D. Eck, 32, East Berlin, died suddenly this morning at the Episcopal hospital, Philadelphia.

Eck, a former resident of Gettysburg, had gone to Philadelphia this morning, driving a truck for the York Motor Express company, of which he was employed for the last six years. Information received here stated he became ill and died shortly after being admitted to the hospital.

He was a member of the Trinity Lutheran church of East Berlin.

Surviving is his widow; one daughter, Mary Barbara, and his father, Marshall Eck, Gettysburg.

Private funeral services will be held from the Emig funeral home, East Berlin, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock conducted by the Rev. Snyder Allemen. Interment in Evergreen cemetery, Gettysburg.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday evening between 7 and 9 o'clock.

Accuse Youth In Truck-Mule Crash

A charge of driving too fast for conditions will be filed against Clair Bowling, 18, Fairfield R. 2, as the driver of the light truck which struck and injured a mule and its rider on the Jacks mountain road, Sunday afternoon. The charge will be filed by Private George Ackerson of the Gettysburg detail of the state motor police before Justice of the Peace Howard Harbaugh, Fairfield.

Michael Welsh, near Fairfield, riding the mule, was injured in the mishap and the mule was so badly hurt it had to be destroyed. Bowling escaped injury while damage to his truck was placed at about $20.

Mount Graduates
Naval Air Cadets

The second class of naval air cadets in training at Mount St. Mary's college, Emmitsburg, is expected to be graduated in about three weeks. College officials said all members of the class had made solo flights.

Msgr. John L. Sheridan, president of Mount St. Mary's, announced the appointment of the Rev. Carl J. Fives, assistant prefect of discipline, to the post of coordinator of the flight program. He succeeds the Rev. Dr. John C. Gordon.

carriers to convey to the people of the county the seriousness of the situation.

Speaks for Parents

Recalling the start of the War Stamp sale 41 weeks ago, Samuel G. Spangler, president of the Times and News Publishing company, told the boys and girls their work is appreciated by the community and by the government. He said he hopes the carriers will go over the top on the quota for the county.

The Rev. H. S. Sternat, Biglerville, father of one of the carriers, spoke for the parents of the newsboys present at the dinner. He said the parents appreciate "The Times" response to the government's call for help. The business training received by the carriers on their routes also is appreciated, the Rev. Mr. Sternat said. He lauded the encouragement The Times has given the boys and girls and added that in association with the parents he hopes the carriers continue to get that support and that the day may be hastened when peace will come again.

Third in State

Carl A. Baum, manager of The Gettysburg Times, said that the newspaper organization shares with the parents their pride in the achievements of the boys and girls. He pointed out that many of "The Times" carriers wanted to take part in the War Stamp campaign, but were prevented from doing so because of ration difficulties and other causes. As of September 20, Mr. Baum said, The Times carriers ranked third among 89 daily newspapers in the state in respect to sale of stamps according to percentage of population. Mr. Baum also indicated that the total sales by the carriers here amounted in each case to more than those turned in by carriers in Lebanon, Scranton and for the Philadelphia Record or the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Sheely Lauds Carriers

Judge W. C. Sheely, president-judge of the Adams and Fulton county courts, was unable to be present at the dinner. He sent the following message that was read Monday evening:

"I am glad you are honoring your news boys, not only because of the wonderful work they are doing in the sale of defense stamps and bonds, but also because many of us have failed to realize the important daily service which these boys perform. Reading the newspaper at a certain time each day has become an important part of our daily life, which would be impossible were it not for the faithfulness and the energy of the newsboys. Performing an important daily public service, it is only natural that they would likewise engage in the patriotic service of stamp and bond sales. I am sure the community joins me in congratulating the boys for the work they are doing."

Capt. Francis T. Snyder, of Gettysburg, who recently returned from Egypt where he served as a tank instructor, was introduced to the gathering. He will report to Fort Knox, Kentucky, for duty soon.

Receive Awards

The "Flying Tigers"—Mr. Seiple and Mr. Walters—presented the awards to the carriers who have sold 729,913 ten-cent War Stamps in the last 41 weeks.

The carriers, with the total number of stamps each has sold and the awards each received, were announced at the dinner as follows:

FAIRFIELD MAY GET FACTORY

Members of the Fairfield Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting Monday evening, heard a Hanover manufacturer express a willingness and a desire to locate a shoe factory in that Adams county borough.

The Hanoverian, L. E. Beaudin, president of the Beaudin Shoe company, outlined the steps to be taken by the Fairfield Chamber of Commerce and the residents of the borough and surrounding territory to secure a shoe factory.

Warren R. Jones, president of the Fairfield C. of C., presided during the meeting. He urged the citizens of the community to back the newly-organized Chamber of Commerce and lend their full support to any undertaking. He recited the program of improvements that were made in Littlestown and sketched the possibilities for Fairfield.

A goal of 300 members has been set by the C. of C. Anyone interested in joining the organization is urged to contact Earl McLaughlin or H. L. Harbaugh, who represent the membership committee.

Monday evening's meeting was held in the Fairfield community hall.

Fairfield Driver
To Face Charges

Pvt. M. H. Cullen, of the Chambersburg substation, stated a charge of driving too fast for conditions would be filed against Russell J. Baker, 22, Fairfield, as the result of the sideswiping collision of two cars going in the opposite direction on a Washington township road, Franklin county, near Pennersville, at 10:45 Sunday night.

The Baker auto, after allegedly striking the car driven by Oscar W. Gladhill, Jr., 18, Fairfield R. 1, continued for a distance of 100 feet and struck a wooden picket fence on the property of Benton Shockey. Damages incurred in the collision were $50 to the Baker auto, $10 to the Gladhill vehicle and $10 to the fence.

Francis Garlach, Gettysburg, 305 stamps, bronze shield.

Harold M. Smith, Gettysburg R. D., 178 stamps.

At the end of the war, each carrier who has taken part in the War Stamp campaign for six months will receive a certificate of merit from the Treasury department.

Bronze shield, 187 stamps; silver bar, 562 stamps; gold bar, 1,312 stamps; second gold bar, 2,062 stamps; third gold bar, 2,812 stamps; fourth gold bar, 3,562 stamps; fifth gold bar, 4,312 stamps; emblem—one star with tank, 5,062 stamps; emblem—two stars with plane, 12,562 stamps; emblem—three stars with battleship, 20,062 stamps; emblem—four stars with white victory "V", 38,812, and emblem—five stars with black "V", 76,312 stamps.

There were 83 persons in attendance at the dinner.

The history of Switzerland as a federated government began August 1, 1291, with a defensive league.

Sells Bonds At Church Services

The Foursquare Gospel church, West Middle street, is actively supporting the War Stamp and Bond drive in the community, according to an announcement by the pastor, the Rev. H. L. Myers.

The Rev. Mr. Myers disclosed that $500 worth of stamps and bonds were sold after the Sunday service. At the international convention of the Foursquare church held in Los Angeles last June, more than $1,000,000 worth of stamps and bonds were sold, Rev. Myers said.

The local congregation also is participating in the scrap-collection campaign, the pastor said. Members will take their scrap donations to the church this week.

Countian On Duty
At Texas School

Private William L. Ingle, Route No. 1, Aspers, is now stationed at Pecos Army Flying school, Pecos, Texas, having been assigned to that post from Gardner Field, Calif. This new Army Air force field promises to be one of the largest basic training schools in the country, having begun operations on September 1, 1942. Pvt. Ingle was one of the first enlisted men assigned to PAFS.

County Girl, 4
Stricken By Polio

Billie Shealer, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shealer, Straban township, Gettysburg R. 4, has become Adams county's first 1942 victim of infantile paralysis.

Following a consultation of physicians Monday at which the diagnosis was made, the child was immediately removed to the West Side sanitarium, York, where she will remain during the quarantine period after which she will be removed to the Elizabethtown state hospital for Crippled Children.

The youngster became ill several days ago. Her right side, right shoulder and right leg have been affected. The method of treatment developed by Sister Kenny, Australian nurse, is being followed.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Anson Hamm, Fairfield, announce the birth of a daughter, Mary Lou, at the Warner hospital Monday midnight.

A son was born at the hospital this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, Arendtsville.

Ed CAREY, our fire chief, came stompin' into the printin' office last week, madder'n a hornet.
"Say!" he yells. "If I could get my hands on that fellow Goebbels, I'd stick a fire hose in his mouth and turn on the pressure." Ed shouts, poundin' my desk. "Do you know what he's puttin' on the German short-wave propaganda to America NOW? He's tellin' folks that American army camps are full of drunkenness! Can you beat it?"
"Calm yourself, Ed," says I. "Nobody's going to believe what Goebbels tells 'em."
"But don't you see? He's puttin' this bare-faced lie on the air to stir up trouble."
"Pretty stupid propaganda, I'd say. Pretty silly, even for the Nazis," says I.
"How so?" says Ed. "There's people in this country that want beer taken out of the camps. That sure is going to hurt army morale. And this lie certainly is fuel for their fire."
"Not if I know Americans," I says. "And the Nazis don't know No. 49 of a Series Copyright, 1942, Breiding Industry Foundation"

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

PERMANENT THINGS
Said Old Crankmire to the youngsters who had gathered round
his door:

"It's a changing world you're facing,
as no doubt you've heard before.

But some things will never alter,
and I want to make them
plain.

First, the road to fame and fortune
long and toilsome will remain.

"There will come no change in honor. Stern and strict will stay the code.

No change in perseverance and no
shortening of the road.

Forms of government may alter, but
wherever change may run,
Still by use of skill and muscle will
the work of life be done.

"There will be no change in conduct.
Under any scheme or plan
There'll be standards of deportment which will mark the gentleman.

And whatever methods follow here's
one law they'll never drop:
Only boys with real ambition will
get somewhere near the top."

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

YOU NEVER KNOW

I once interviewed a noted hotel
manager in Chicago, in preparation
of a book on beds for a large manufacturer of beds. I wanted to know what guests wanted in a hotel, and especially what importance they placed upon what a hotel had to offer.

In the course of our talk the manager brought up the matter of always being courteous to everyone,
no matter what his or her appearance might be, and he told me this story. Late at night a rather rough,
uncouth looking man came in and asked for a room. The only baggage he had was a battered old bag.
The clerk looked him over, named
the price of the room, which the
man said was all right, but remarked, after looking at the battered bag, that it was the custom
of the hotel to be paid in advance
when a guest was accompanied by little or no baggage.

Thereupon the quiet man replied
that he would be glad to conform
to the suggestion, opened his old
bag and pulled out a big roll and
threw down a hundred dollar bill!
He was a big cattle man just paid
off for a load of cattle to the stock yards. My friend then said: "You never can tell by the looks of a man
just what he has in his pocket—
or his head."

I received a letter from Harry Worcester Smith, noted writer and sport lover, and especially a lover and authority on dogs, and he has told me this story about Mark Twain. It seems that the great humorist was in Edinburgh, when a relative in his party suddenly became ill. Immediately Mark Twain sent for a physician—any one who could be gotten quickly. He came
and relieved the patient, then turning to Mark Twain, he asked what had brought him to Edinburgh,
knowing that he was an American.

"I came to Edinburgh," replied
Mark, "just to see one man—Dr.
John Brown, who wrote 'Rab and
His Friends.' Do you know him?"
"Yes," replied the physician. "I am
Dr. John Brown."

I was traveling to Washington
one day last year and sat in the lounge room listening to the conversation. Soon all had left but one man and he came over and engaged me in talk. Then he pulled
a card from his pocket and asked me if I knew the man whose name was thereon. I looked at it and replied: "Yes. You have been talking to the Speaker of the House—the Hon. Sam Rayburn!" He looked at me in surprise—and I looked at him
in surprise—for he was from Texas!

Out Of The Past

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Local Miscellany: The Reading proposes to run another cheap excursion next Sunday.

The Observatory will be open on Monday evenings for guests. All are invited.

Some of the young ladies of this place have organized a cooking club for the winter. The first formal dinner was given at Dr. Breidenbaugh's on Tuesday evening.

Chambersburg street is being treated to a coating of broken limestone.

Revival exercises will be begun in the U. B. church next Sunday evening.

F. and M. Wins: The college football team went to Lancaster on Saturday and played their first game
of the season with the well trained Franklin and Marshall eleven. They were defeated but made a very creditable showing, losing by a score of 22-12.

Hall (full-back) scored for Pennsylvania by a brilliant run of more
than the length of the field.

Our boys say the game should have been tied. They were prevented from scoring a touch-down once by the crowd and the time was extended
in the second half to enable the F.
and M. boys to count again. The game was a surprise to them, and
their trainer acknowledged that,
with proper coaching, Pennsylvania

Marriages: Baker—Shoemaker—

liam F. Thomas, Jr., of Straban township, to Miss Flora C. Powell, of Franklin township.

Miller-Weaver—Sept. 29, at Ardentsville, by the Rev. B. P. Bausman, Albert A. Miller, of Huntington township, to Miss Ollie D. Weaver, of Butler township.

Personal Mention: Miss Jennie Hayden, of Greenville, Michigan, is visiting the family of J. A. Kitz-miller, Esq.

Misses Ethel Swope and Virginia O'Neal spent several days last week with Miss Emma Barnitz in Hanover.

Miss Mary A. Horner is visiting friends in Chambersburg.

Mrs. Edward McPherson is in Washington for a visit.

Mrs. F. J. Buehler left today for a trip to Elizabeth, N. J., and Lakeville, Conn.

David Johns and wife, of Canton, Ohio, are visiting her parents, Mr.
and Mrs. Emanuel Ziegler.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sweeney, of Illinois, are the guests of her sister, Mrs. David Kendeheart.

Mrs. P. M. Bickle has returned to Milfingburg to visit her parents.

Miss Lottie Warren, of Washington, arrived on Saturday for a visit to Miss Mollie Freeman.

Judge McClean was in Philadelphia last week and went on Friday, in company of many prominent judges and lawyers, to inspect the new institution for delinquent boys at Glenn Mills. The judge, along with Judges Hanna and Reed, of Philadelphia, made a short address.

Miss Cruwys, of Philadelphia, is the guest of Mrs. H. B. Nixon.

Mrs. Charles Ziegler is spending the week with relatives in York.

Mr. E. F. A. Clark, of Topeka, Kansas, who started to learn printing at this office, was here last week visiting friends.

Mr. Charles H. Sheffer and wife, of Ellicott City, Md., are visiting friends in Gettysburg and vicinity.

Sales: Isaac F. Brinkerhoff has purchased of F. N. Frommeyer 15 acres of land with buildings, in Stra-ban township, on the Harrisburg road, at $1,400 cash, and will remove there in the spring.

The Gettysburg National bank has sold the Peter Ketterman farm, Franklin township, to Daniel March,
135 acres, at $5,200 cash.

The Sheds house, just across Stevens Run on Carlisle street, was sold at public sale on Saturday. John
M. Blocher was the purchaser at $1,500.

Their Sixtieth Anniversary: On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Ziegler celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage. On the 4th of October, 1832, in this place,
the ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Ruthrauff, pastor of the Lu-

Ann Culp.

New School House: Fairplay school house, situated in Cumberland township, about two miles from town, has just been completed by the contractor, William M. Henry. The contract price was $747. The land was sold to the directors by Harvey D. Bream for $50. The teacher of the school is Miss May McIlhenny and the average attendance is 35.
The term began on Monday, Octo-

Senators Demand Sales Tax To Finance War Effort

Washington, Oct. 6 (AP)—Demands for a sales tax arose from members today as the Senate received from its finance committee a
Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said would be at least $6-000,000,000 short of wartime needs.

Without officially estimating the
additional yield of the new measure,
the committee report criticized as too high the 45 per cent normal
and surtax rate voted by the House
on corporation profits and noted that it had cut the rate to 40 per cent.

While the report did not allude to Morgenthau's demand of yesterday for even higher taxes, committee members declared in no uncertain terms that something new in taxation would have to be added if Morgenthau's goal of $30,000,000,000 a year, "and possibly much more,"
was to be reached.

Favors Sales Tax
The Treasury head said the committee-approved bill, combined with present taxes, would raise about $24,000,000,000 a year, or about $2-
000,000,000 less than Chairman
George (D-Ga) has estimated.

Senators Herring (D-Iowa) and Radcliffe (D-Md) said they believed the only way $30,000,000,000 could
be raised would be through a sales tax.

"We're going to have to come to
that, a straight across-the-boards
sales tax," Herring declared. There have been estimates that a sales tax of at least 10 per cent would be required to raise $6,000,000,000 additional.

Senator Clark (D-Mo), an opponent of the sales tax, said he frankly did not know where the money could be obtained and agreed
with Senator Johnson (D-Colo) that
the point of diminishing returns rapidly was being approached in federal taxation.

"There is a vast difference between levying taxes and collecting
them," Johnson declared.

In its formal report, the committee said it believed the House-approved rate of 45 per cent on so-called "normal" profits of corporations was too high and "would result in severe hardship on many corporations crippled by priorities and
other effects of our war economy."

LUTHER A. SMITH, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Smith, Hanover street, and a comparative newcomer on the carrier staff of The Gettysburg Times, demonstrated his ability as a salesman on Newspaper Boy Day by banking fourth in the day's sales with 10,487. The grand total tabulation he also retains fourth position with 60,311. He serves subscribers on Carlisle street, Broadway, Lincoln avenue and Barlow street.

JAMES BUCHER, son of Mrs. Caroline Bucher, Aspers, now second place in the Newspaper Boy Day campaign with sales totaling 17,104 stamps. This was no mean task in the sparsely populated area in which he worked. By virtue of his Saturday's sales he takes fifth place in total sales with 51,435, over a 37-week period.

ROBERT KIME, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kime, Bendersville, sold 9,942 stamps in the carrier boys' campaign to sell fifty thousand stamps in Adams county last Saturday and by virtue of this fine showing took fifth place for the day. He ranks sixth in total sales with 26,510 sales. Bob serves the Bendersville area subscribers to The Gettysburg Times.

HAROLD M. SMITH, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, Gettysburg R. D. 5, sold 148 stamps on Saturday and finished eighteenth. His total sales are 178. He serves a bicycle route along the Bonneauville road.

WALTER TROSTLE, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Trostle, East Middle street, placed ninth in Saturday's Newspaper Boy Day sales campaign with 1,164 sales. Walter, who serves subscribers on a bicycle route for four miles out the Baltimore pike, is twelfth in total sales with 3,987 ten cent stamp sales.

RALPH SINGLEY, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Singley, West Middle street placed tenth in the war stamp campaign conducted by The Gettysburg Times carriers last Saturday. He sold 1,097 stamps and retained fourteenth position in total sales with 3,388. He serves subscribers on Chambersburg street, Franklin street, Buford avenue, Springs avenue, Seminary avenue and Ridge avenue.

RICHARD COLE, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cole, North Washington street, a newcomer to the carrier ranks, placed fourteenth in stamp sales last Saturday with 733 sales. His total of 1,051, since becoming a carrier several weeks ago, places him seventeenth on the list. He serves subscribers on South Washington street, Breckenridge street, South street and the lower end of Steinwehr avenue.

ROBERT COFFIELD, son of Mrs. Martha Coffield, East Middle street, sold 779 ten cent stamps last Saturday and placed thirteenth for the day. His combine sales of 4,381 places him eleventh on the list. He serves York and Liberty streets, East Middle and South Stratton streets.

PAUL MYERS, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Myers, York Springs, sold 268 ten cent stamps last Saturday and placed seventeenth for the day. In total sales he ranks thirteenth with 3,680. He is the York Springs carrier for The Gettysburg Times.

PATRICK CUNNINGHAM, son of Mrs. Madolyn Cunningham, North Washington street, sold 975 war stamps last Saturday and placed eleventh for the day. His total sales are 2,080 and he ranks fifteenth for the entire campaign. He serves the route which includes West Water street, Mummansburg street, West Middle and West High streets.

WILLIAM COLEMAN, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Coleman, Biglerville road, placed sixteenth in National Newspaper Boy Day sales with 518 stamps. He ranks eighth in total sales with 9,670 and he served a six-mile bicycle route along the Biglerville road until recently, although he still continues to sell war stamps.

ROBERT MATTINGLY, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mattingly, Ridge avenue, who with his sister Ethel, combine to serve one route in Gettysburg, sold 612 stamps on Saturday. The brother-and-sister act placed them in twelfth position and sixteenth in total sales with 1,230. They serve York and Hanover street, South Stratton and Harrisburg street subscribers.

LUTHER W. SLIFER, son of Rev. and Mrs. Luther J. Slifer, North Washington street, won sixth place on Newspaper Boy Day with sales of 9,085 ten cent war stamps. For the entire campaign Luther ranks in seventh place with sales totaling 20,373. Luther recently originated the idea of writing letters to his subscribers and stepped up his sales considerably. He received public recognition from the Treasury department for this novel idea. He delivers the Times to subscribers on Baltimore street, part of Steinwehr avenue and East High street.

6 HOME GUARD UNITS DELAYED

Harrisburg, Oct. 6 (AP)—One-third of Pennsylvania's auxiliary home guard companies were reported ready today to serve in the commonwealth's wartime protective program.

"All but six of the state's 67 counties have reported their preliminary home guard formations to the Department of Military Affairs," Deputy Adjutant General Robert M. Vail commented. "One-third has completed organization."

The units, consisting of three officers and 60 men each, were organized to guard war plants, bridges and other vital points now patrolled by the reserve defense corps, which replaced the national guard when it entered federal service.

Counties which have not reported are Westmoreland, Berks, Venango, Monroe, Erie and Monticomey. General Vail declared: "I don't know why they haven't done anything because their services are badly needed in our war effort."

The remaining 61 have named captains and are ready to train.

JACKPOT

New York (AP)—Sam Patt's idea worked about $800 worth. Then the authorities stepped in.

Between jobs, he received home relief and unemployment insurance and registered for social security under his name and his brother's.

Officials said he'd get a job under his brother's name while drawing relief checks under his own, then leave the job and apply for unemployment insurance under the brother's name to protect his home relief standing.

He pleaded guilty to charges of grand larceny and violation of the New York state labor law.

NEW PROCEDURE

On your application from you will be required for the first time to show your speedometer reading, as of the date of application. By checking this figure against the reading given on your next application, the rationing board will be able to determine the number of miles you have driven during the ration period.

"A second important step designed to guard against a breakdown in our wartime transportation program is the expansion of tire rationing to include used tires. Preliminary to the rationing of used tires and tubes, which will begin at an early date, OPA has frozen sales of these commodities to keep intact the present supply until rationing certificates can be issued to eligible buyers.

"It is important to have available for rationing, OPA has pointed out, not only the mileage represented by used tires with good tread thickness, but also the supply of recappable tire carcasses which form the base of any successful recapping program. A shortage of such carcasses has hampered the present tire rationing plan.

Sale Unhampered "The freeze order does not prevent the sale to a consumer of an automobile equipped with used tires, nor the transfers between a recapper and a consumer or between a dealer and a consumer which are necessary in getting a tire recapped or repaired.

"Plan to fill out and mail promptly your application for renewal of supplementary gasoline ration when it reaches you. And limit, as much as possible your consumption of the rubber on your own tires, remembering that even used tires will no longer be available except to those who can qualify as essential users under rationing regulations."

their communities to "place a scrap barrel at every business place and school house and a rag bag in every home." Each community committee is asked to report to Dean W. E. Tilberg, chairman of the county committee, the amount of salvage collected and the amount of money secured for it. With $311 already in the treasury, Dean Tilberg accepted a $75 check from Biglerville's committee Monday evening.

Divide Receipts Organization progress in McSherrystown was reported. There, a new chairman, Pius Topper, has formed a committee of 35 that covers that town and surrounding smaller communities and rural areas with all of the proceeds from the sale of donated scrap to go to the USO. Most county communities are dividing their receipts between the USO and the Red Cross.

Correction The marriage of Sergeant Edgar K. Markley, Gettysburg, to Miss Priscilla Thomas, of Pittsburgh, took place in Washington and not Pittsburgh as reported Monday evening.

SEEK MAN FOR KILLING WIFE, MOTHER OF 12

Beaver Springs, Pa., Oct. 6 (AP)—A posse armed with machine guns searched the central Pennsylvania mountains today for a woodsman accused by a coroner's jury of choking, beating and shooting to death his estranged wife, Mrs. Grace Boonie, 43, mother of 12.

State police Corporal J. L. Hock-reiter described the man 54-year-old Foster Boonie, as "very dangerous" and Sheriff Rudolph Grimm said he expected a gun fight. Boonie, Corporal C. W. Straub said, "knows these mountains like a book" and is able to live in the open for indefinite periods.

Deaf Mute Son Reports Boonie disappeared early yesterday after his wife was killed in her farm home, Straub said. Their deaf mute son, Raymond, testified by writing and pantomime that they had quarreled over a non-support charge filed by his mother. The jury held the Mrs. Boonie died "as a result of 22 calibre shots at the hands of her husband," Straub said he would be charged with murder.

The story of the slaying was pieced together at the inquest from testimony of Raymond Boonie, who with two sisters two and five years old witnessed events leading up to the tragedy.

Dr. Straub said the son gave this story: The husband came to the woman's home four miles northwest of here and argued with her about a summons served on him by the county court to answer charges of desertion and non-support.

Boonie choked his wife, flung her over a chair, struck her with a hammer and then ran out. When he returned carrying a rifle, Raymond and his sisters fled.

Dr. Straub said the woman was killed by two bullets through the head.

Predicting a difficult search, Sheriff Grimm said he planned to ask officers of Rockview prison to lend bloodhounds. The posse combed the wooded mountain region through the night.

MORE ALIENS ARE ARRESTED BY FBI

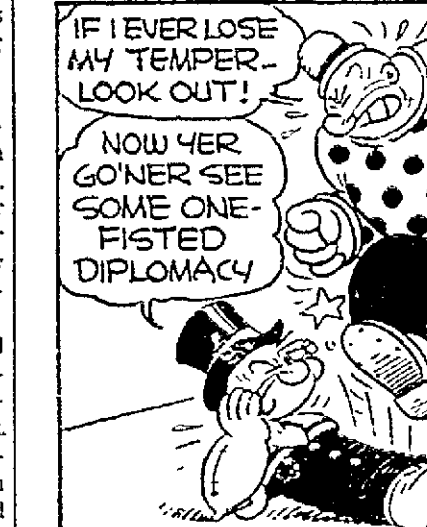

Philadelphia, Oct. 6 (AP)—F. B. I. agents arrested nine German-born Philadelphians and seized contraband in the homes of 20 Italians last night in the third series of raids within a week.

The Germans, detained on Presidential warrants, were taken to the federal detention station at Cloues-ter, N. J. Ten Italians were held for questioning but were not charged.

One of the Germans arrested, an F. B. I. spokesman said, admitted destroying Nazi propaganda before his home was entered. The nature of the contraband seized was not announced.

In earlier raids the F. B. I. confiscated 18 radios with short wave equipment, six shotguns, four revolvers, 30 cameras, six binoculars and a quantity of ammunition.

Chapter 17
LED ASTRAY

Julie knew right as a live thing standing there in the trail beside her. She was aware too of the drama of the moment. They stood facing each other across a silence that waited as if for use raising of a curtain, the quelling of applause. Finally, the tall stranger spoke.

"How do you do? You are in need of some assistance?"

Some of Julie's apprehension jogged her memory sharply. This was the voice she had heard in the shadow by the porch last night. The deep voice resonant with a hint of mocking laughter. Even now he sounded as if this were some amusing little joke of his own making.

"I—I've been temporarily lost from my—companion. I thought you were he." She clutched at the fraying shreds of calm. "I'm sorry."

He bowed slightly. "Perhaps I can be your guide."

Julie shuddered. "No. Thank you very much. I—I'm sure I can overtake my friends very soon."

And, glancing down the steep bank up which she had just clambered, she tried to decide whether to count on his letting her pass him on the narrow trail, or—

"You are, no doubt one of Miss Kellogg's house guests, no?"

"Yes, I am."

"Then I shall be happy to show you the way." He stepped aside, motioned for her to precede him up the trail.

There was no choice, Julie realized. And she realized too, that she would only betray her own apprehension if she refused.

"Thank you," she said quietly and, head up, walked ahead. "I don't like to trouble you to—"

"It is no trouble at all, I assure you."

On the Wrong Path For what seemed hours, Julie stumbled along strange but well-marked trails winding higher and higher up the side of the mountain. Completely turned-around as she was, still she realized that they were climbing farther and farther from the trail she and Pete had followed hours earlier. And that every step took her farther from the Kellogg cabin.

She feigned exhaustion once, sat on a flat stump to rest and to give herself time to think of something. But the cool stranger's ruthless courtesy was better not challenged.

Yet, sure now that she was actually his prisoner, that some devilish scheme had taken form behind that bland smiling face, she tried hard not to show her terror.

Then, five hundred yards straight down the mountain side she saw Pete, wading hip-deep in the boiling stream. Heard him shouting her name.

"Julie! Hey! Sissy!" The sound trailed up to her faintly.

Julie jumped to her feet. "There's Pete!" And fingers between her teeth she whistled—two short and one long. Help!

Pete turned instantly toward the sound, whistled an answering

some rescuer and then ran away

BY ELEANOR ATTERBURY

"Where are you?"

Aware that the tall stranger beside her had fingered the holster slung about his hips, Julie ran along the trail to a gash in the mountain-side where winter rains had pulled down a landslide. Waving frantically, she whistled again, kicked a cluster of rocks free so that they rattled and clattered down the slide toward her.

Then as if Satan himself breathed on the back of her neck, Julie started down that slide. Half running, half sliding, clutching at tree stumps she went down in cauterous, head-long flight.

"Julie! Great Scott, woman, have you lost your head?" Pete demanded angrily a few moments later as he caught her just as the little avalanche of loose gravel she'd started up rattled past, plunged on down the bank into the stream below.

For minutes, she couldn't talk. She let Pete wipe the tears running shamelessly down her cheeks, take the heavy creel off her shoulder where the strap had bitten painfully.

When her breath was no longer a jagged pain in her throat, she told him what had happened.

"But you didn't have to come flying down a mountain side, even so," Pete protested when she had finished. "The chap might have shown you the trail if you'd stopped to ask him."

"He didn't want me to get back to you, Pete," she said quickly. "I know he was leading me the wrong way—deliberately."

Pete eyed her sharply. "Listen, Julie. You're too smart to go in for stuff like that. You make your tall stranger sound like a bandit complete with mustache and foul plot. This is sleepy old Marin county, remember?"

Julie tried to tell him why she was so sure she'd been in grave danger. But in the face of Pete's smiling disbelief, his teasing, her own story began to sound impossible to herself. Probably Pete was right. She tried to assure herself as they plodded back to the cabin. The stranger had been a ranger with no more sinister motive than to return a lost tenderfoot to civilization. With the top of her mind, she believed that. But memory of those bold, black eyes, the scornful mockery in the man's voice lingered in spite of her.

Dawn Is Frightened Breakfast had been served long since by the time Julie and Pete got back to the cabin. So they had time to rest for a while.

"They're simply marvelous," Dawn raved, presiding at the table set under the pines in the open patio. "Julie can just do anything, can't she, Bart? I never knew anyone so versatile. Is there anything you can't do, Julie?"

Julie, flushing, tried vainly to think of some way to answer.

"Well," Pete began, slanting a grin at her, "she can't find her way back along a trout stream."

"Oh, Julie!" Dawn's laugh cascaded brightly. "Did you really get lost?"

ITALY CLAIMS SHE SANK BIG U.S. BATTLESHIP

London, Oct. 6 (AP)—The sinking of a United States battleship of the 33,600-ton Mississippi class in the Atlantic off Freetown, West Africa, was reported by the Italian high command in a special communique today.

There was no confirmation from any other source for this claim nor any indication that United States warships were operating in that area.

The communique said the Italian submarine Barbarigo scored four torpedo hits on the battleship at 2:34 a. m., Rome time, today (2:34 p. m., EWT, Monday).

The communique, broadcast by the Rome radio, credited the sinking to the Italian submarine Barbarigo, an ocean-going type which previously had been reported by the Italians to have sunk a United States battleship of the Maryland class near Brazil last May 22.

This claim, more than four months later, still has no confirmation.

The Navy department in Washington said it had no comment on the claim.

RELIEF APPEALS DROP

Harrisburg, Oct. 6 (AP)—Applications for general assistance fell below the 1,000 mark during the week ending September 26 for the first time in the 10-year history of state-financed relief. The Department of Public Assistance reports. A reduction of 534 cases was noted during the week, dropping the load to 40,779 cases. Employment gains in private industry accounted for a decrease of 334 cases. Expenditures totaled $195,337, a drop of $3,342 from the previous week.

MORE MOTHERS IN WAR PLANTS

Harrisburg, Oct. 6 (AP)—A new increase in the number of Pennsylvania mothers working in war plants was predicted today as the state planned day care for their children.

"Many more mothers who have jobs which will aid our war effort will probably take jobs now," declared Mrs. Mary Rice Morrow, director of the Bureau of Women and Children in the Department of Labor and Industry, "because they won't have to worry about their children during the day."

She said women workers are more efficient when they need not worry about unattended children.

Mrs. Benjamin Ludlow, of Bryn Mawr, was appointed director of the new State Defense Council program, designed to stimulate local action on child care and to recommend the best type of day school, nursery or play center.

Mrs. Morrow predicted a drop in juvenile delinquency under the program, which she termed "a great step forward."

PERMANENT THINGS

Said Old Crankinire to the youngsters who had gathered round
his door:
"It's a changing world you're facing,
as no doubt you've heard before.
But some things will never alter,
and I want to make them
plain.
First, the road to fame and fortune
long and toilsome will remain.
"There will come no change in honor. Stern and strict will stay the code.
No change in perseverance and no
shortening of the road.
Forms of government may alter, but
wherever change may run,
Still by use of skill and muscle will
the work of life be done.

"There will be no change in conduct.
Under any scheme or plan.
There'll be standards of deportment
man.
And whatever methods follow here's
one law they'll never drop:
Only boys with real ambition will
get somewhere near the top."

Today's Talk
By George Matthew Adams

YOU NEVER KNOW

I once interviewed a noted hotel
manager in Chicago, in preparation
of a book on beds for a large manufacturer of beds. I wanted to know
what guests wanted in a hotel, and
especially what importance they
offer.

In the course of our talk the manager brought up the matter of always being courteous to everyone,
no matter what his or her appearance might be, and he told me this
story. Late at night a rather rough,
uncouth looking man came in and
asked for a room. The only baggage he had was a battered old bag.
The clerk looked him over, named
the price of the room, which the
man said was all right, but remarked, after looking at the battered bag, that it was the custom
of the hotel to be paid in advance
when a guest was accompanied by little or no baggage.

Thereupon the quiet man replied
that he would be glad to conform
to the suggestion, opened his old
bag and pulled out a big roll and
threw down a hundred dollar bill.
He was a big cattle man just paid
off for a load of cattle to the stock yards. My friend then said: "You never can tell by the looks of a man
just what he has in his pocket—
or his head."

I received a letter from Harry Worcester Smith, noted writer and
sport lover, and especially a lover and authority on corn, and he has told me this story about Mark Twain. It seems that the great humorist was in Edinburgh when a
came ill. Immediately Mark Twain
sent for a physician—any one who could be gotten quickly. He came
and relieved the patient, then turning to Mark Twain, he asked what had brought him to Edinburgh
knowing that he was an American.

"I came to Edinburgh," replied
Mark, "just to see one man—Dr.
John Brown, who wrote 'Rab and
His Friends.' Do you know him?"
"Yes," replied the physician. "I am
Dr. John Brown."

I was traveling to Washington
one day last year and sat in the lounging room listening to the conversation. Soon all had left but
one man and he came over and engaged me in talk. Then he pulled
a card from his pocket and asked
me if I knew the man whose name
was thereon. I looked at it and replied: "Yes. You have been talking
to the Speaker of the House—the Hon. Sam Rayburn!" He looked at me in surprise—and I looked at him
in surprise—for he was from Texas!

Revival exercises will be begun in the U. B. church next Sunday evening.

F. and M. Wins: The college football team went to Lancaster on Saturday and played their first game
of the season with the well trained Franklin and Marshall eleven. They were defeated but made a very creditable showing, losing by a score of 22-12.

Hall (full-back) scored for Pennsylvania by a brilliant run of more
than the length of the field.

Our boys say the game should have been tie. They were prevented from scoring a touch-down once by the
crowd and the time was extended
in the second half to enable the F.
and M. boys to count again. The game was a surprise to them, and
their trainer acknowledged that,
with proper coaching, Pennsylvania
has the stronger team.

135 acres, at $2,200 cash.

The Sheeds house, just across Stevens Run on Carlisle street, was sold at public sale on Saturday John
M. Blocher was the purchaser at $1,500.

Their Sixtieth Anniversary: On
Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel
Ziegler celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage. On the 4th of October 1882, in this place,
the ceremony was performed by the
Rev. J. Ruthrauff, pastor of the Lu-

NEW MEASURE
DOLLARS SHY

Washington, Oct. 6 (AP)—Demands for a sales tax arose from
members today as the Senate received from its finance committee a
Secretary of the Treasury Mergenthau said would be at least $6-000,000,000 short of wartime needs.

Without officially estimating the
additional yield of the new measure,
the committee report criticized as
too high the 45 per cent normal
and surtax rate voted by the House
on corporation profits and noted that it had cut the rate to 40 per cent.

While the report did not allude to Mergenthau's demand of yesterday for even higher taxes, committee members declared in no uncertain terms that something new in taxation would have to be added if Mergenthau's goal of $30,000,000,000
a year, "and possibly much more,"
was to be reached.

Favors Sales Tax

The Treasury head said the committee-approved bill, combined with present taxes, would raise about $24,000,000,000 a year, or about $2-
000,000,000 less than Chairman
George (D-Ga.) has estimated.

Senators Herring (D-Iowa) and Radeliffe (D-Md.) said they believed
the only way $30,000,000,000 could
be raised would be through a sales tax.

"We're going to have to come to
that, a straight across-the-boards
sales tax," Herring declared. There have been estimates that a sales
tax of at least 10 per cent would be required to raise $6,000,000,000 additional.

Senator Clark (D-Mo), an opponent of the sales tax, said he frankly did not know where the
money could be obtained and agreed
with Senator Johnson (D-Colo.) that
the point of diminishing returns
rapidly was being approached in federal taxation.

"There is a vast difference between levying taxes and collecting
them," Johnson declared.

In its formal report, the committee said it believed the House-approved rate of 45 per cent on so-called "normal" profits of corporations was too high and "would result in severe hardship on many corporations crippled by priorities and
other effects of our war economy."

WALTER TROSTLE, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Trostle, East Middle street, placed ninth in Saturday's Newspaper Boy Day sales campaign with 1,164 sales. Walter, who serves subscribers on a bicycle route for four miles out the Baltimore pike, is twelfth in total sales with 3,987 ten cent stamp sales.

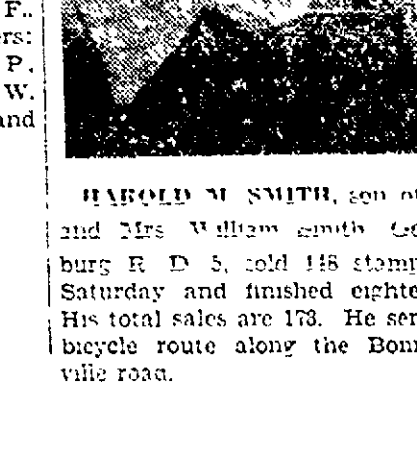

LUTHER A. SMITH, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Smith, Hanover street, and a comparative newcomer on the carrier staff of The Gettysburg Times, demonstrated his ability as a salesman on Newspaper Boy Day by ranking fourth in the day's sales with 10,487. The grand total tabulation he also retains fourth position with 50,311. He serves subscribers on Carlisle street, Broadway, Lincoln avenue and Barlow street.

JAMES BUCHER, son of Mrs. Caroline Bucher, Aspers, won second place in the Newspaper Boy Day campaign with sales totaling 17,104 stamps. This was no mean task in the sparsely populated area in which he worked. By virtue of his Saturday's sales he takes fifth place in total sales with 51,435, over a 37-week period.

ROBERT KIME, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kame, Bendersville, sold 9,942 stamps in the carrier boys' campaign to sell fifty thousand stamps in Adams county last Saturday and by virtue of this fine showing took fifth place for the day. He ranks sixth in total sales with 26,510 sales. Bob serves the Bendersville area subscribers to The Gettysburg Times.

HAROLD M. SMITH, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, Gettysburg R. D. 5, sold 146 stamps on Saturday and finished eighteenth. His total sales are 173. He serves a bicycle route along the Bonneauville road.

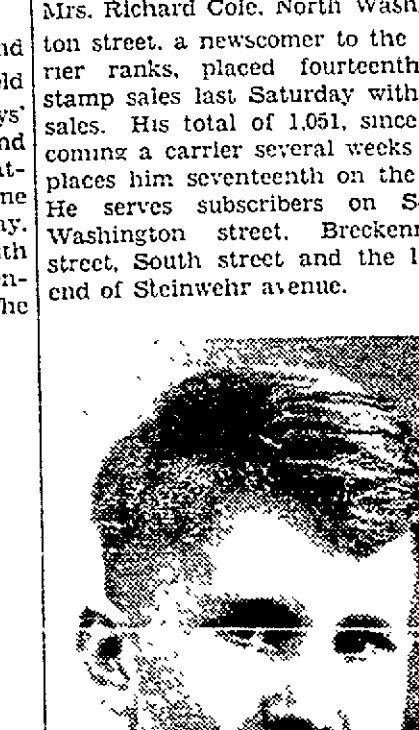

PAUL MYERS, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Myers, York Springs, sold 268 ten cent stamps last Saturday and placed seventeenth for the day. In total sales he ranks thirteenth with 3,680. He is the York Springs carrier for The Gettysburg Times.

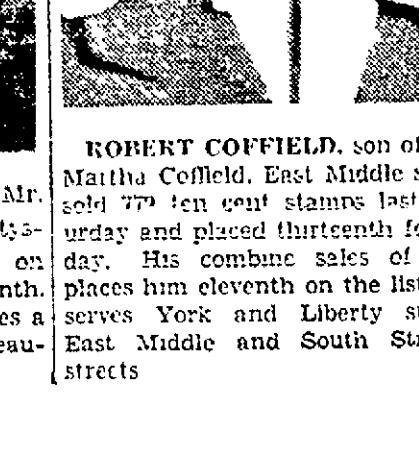

RALPH SINGLEY, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Singley, West Middle street, placed tenth in the war stamp campaign conducted by The Gettysburg Times' carriers last Saturday. He sold 1,097 stamps and retained fourteenth position in total sales with 3,388. He serves subscribers on Chambersburg street, Franklin street, Buford avenue, Springs avenue, Seminary avenue and Ridge avenue.

RICHARD COLE, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cole, North Washington street, a newcomer to the carrier ranks, placed fourteenth in National stamp sales last Saturday with 733 sales. His total of 1,051, since becoming a carrier several weeks ago, places him seventeenth on the list. He serves subscribers on South Washington street, Breckenridge street, South street and the lower end of Steinwehr avenue.

WILLIAM COLEMAN, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Coleman, Biglerville road, placed sixteenth in National Newspaper Boy Day sales with 518. He ranks eighth in total sales with 9,670 and he served a six-mile bicycle route along the Biglerville road until recently, although he still continues to sell war stamps.

ROBERT MATTINGLY, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mattingly, Ridge avenue, who with his sister Ethel, combine to serve one route in Gettysburg, sold 512 stamps on Saturday. The brother-and-sister act placed them in twelfth position and sixteenth in total sales with 1,230. They serve York and Hanover street, South Stratton and Harrisburg street subscribers.

LUTHER W. SLIFER, son of Rev. and Mrs. Luther J. Slifer, North Washington street, won sixth place on Newspaper Boy Day with sales of 9,085 ten cent war stamps. For the entire campaign Luther ranks in seventh place with sales totaling 20,373. Luther recently originated the idea of writing letters to his subscribers and stepped up his sales considerably. He received public recognition from the Treasury department for this novel idea. He delivers the Times to subscribers on Baltimore street, part of Steinwehr avenue and East High street.

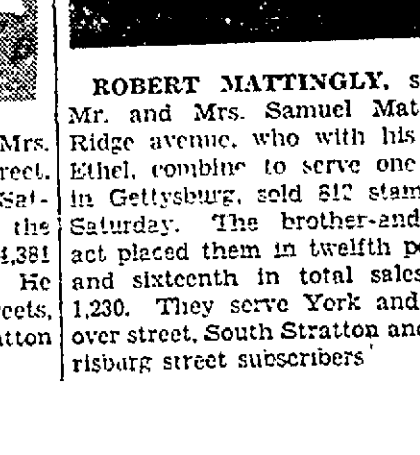

PATRICK CUNNINGHAM, son of Mrs. Madelyn Cunningham, North Washington street, sold 975 war stamps last Saturday and placed eleventh for the day. His total sales are 2,080 and he ranks fifteenth for the entire campaign. He serves the route which includes West Water street, Mummasburg street, West Middle and West High streets.

PROPERTY TRANSFER
Robert E. Hart, McSherrystown, sold to Bernard G. and Anna A. Smith, McSherrystown, a property on South street in that borough.

ROBERT COFFIELD, son of Mrs. Martha Coffield, East Middle street, sold 77 ten cent stamps last Saturday and placed thirteenth for the day. His combine sales of 4,381 places him eleventh on the list. He serves York and Liberty streets, East Middle and South Stratton streets.

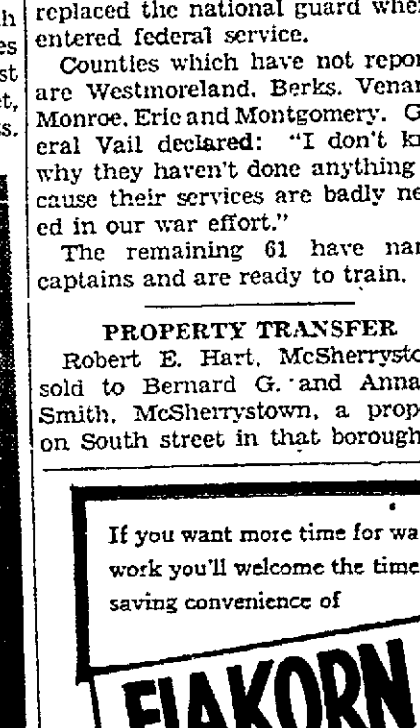

ROBERT MATTINGLY, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mattingly, Ridge avenue, who with his sister Ethel, combine to serve one route in Gettysburg, sold 512 stamps on Saturday. The brother-and-sister act placed them in twelfth position and sixteenth in total sales with 1,230. They serve York and Hanover street, South Stratton and Harrisburg street subscribers.

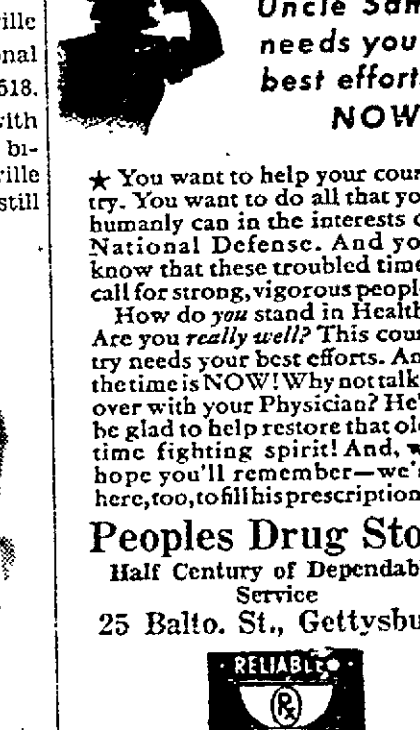

2ND PIGEON FOUND
Mrs. John R. Kunkel, Biglerville R. 2, reported that a carrier pigeon appeared at the Kunkel property on Saturday. The pigeon carried a band of his right leg bearing this information: "Aug. 42, R.S., 3748." On the left leg was a rubber band. The bird was the second of its kind reported in upper Adams county last week-end.

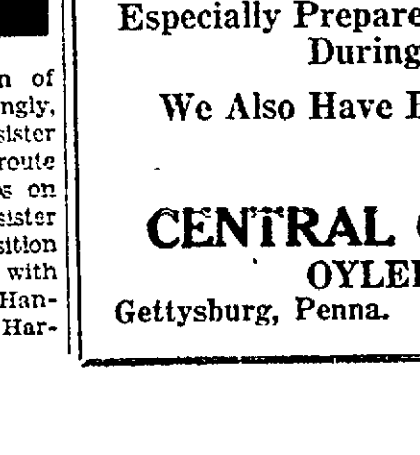

REVERSAL
Albany, N. Y. (AP)—Twenty-five years ago, Eugene V. O'Sullivan was rejected for armed service because of a slight visual defect. Now, at 44, he's been OK'd by the doctor who rejected him in 1917.

ESSENTIAL MAN
Gurnee, III, (AP)—When Joseph Gurnee, III, left here to take a federal job inspecting fire equipment at military reservations, it appeared that four men would be needed to replace him. Dada quit his jobs as village marshal, fire chief, building commissioner and garage mechanic.

JACKPOT
New York (AP)—Sam Patti's idea worked about $800 worth. Then the authorities stepped in. Between jobs, he received home relief and unemployment insurance and registered for social security under his name and his brother's. Officials said he'd get a job under his brother's name while drawing relief checks under his own, then leave the job and apply for unemployment insurance under the brother's name to protect his home relief standing. He pleaded guilty to charges of grand larceny and violation of the New York state labor law.

6 HOME GUARD UNITS DELAYED

Harrisburg, Oct. 6 (AP)—One-third of Pennsylvania's auxiliary home guard companies were reported ready today to serve in the commonwealth's wartime protective program.

"All but six of the state's 67 counties have reported their preliminary home guard formations to the Department of Military Affairs," Deputy Adjutant General Robert M.
Vail commented. "One-third has completed organization."

The units, consisting of three officers and 60 men each, were organized to guard war plants, bridges and other vital points now patrolled by the reserve defense corps, which replaced the national guard when it entered federal service.

Counties which have not reported are Westmoreland, Berks, Venango, Monroe, Erie and Montgomery. General Vail declared: "I don't know why they haven't done anything because their services are badly needed in our war effort."

The remaining 61 have named captains and are ready to train.

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, Oct. 6 (Wide World)

—Daytime serials on NBC and CBS are to contribute to the war effort through a special series of broadcasts. The programs are in cooperation with the Office of War Information.

The NBC series, at 10 a. m., will be called "Victory Volunteers," and CBS 9:45 a. m. program, "The Victory Front." Each week one of the regular series will have a special script based on the wartime situation but following the general pattern of the particular program. In place of the commercials will be war messages from government spokesmen.

The first one on NBC will be "Stella Dallas," and that on CBS "Our Gal Sunday," starting Monday. There will be a complete change of program each week.

Bund Officials To Be Interned

Pittsburgh, Oct. 6 (AP)—U. S. Attorney Charles F. Uhl announced he will institute denaturalization proceedings and intern as enemy aliens all foreign-born officials of the defunct German-American Bund in the western Pennsylvania district. Uhl said he was acting on instructions from Attorney General Francis Biddle. He said he could not tell yet how many cases would be involved in the action.

FLOOR SPACE TO DETERMINE OIL FUEL ISSUANCE

Adams county Rationing Board officials today outlined the procedure by which fuel oil will be rationed in this county under Office of Price Administration plans to cut fuel oil consumption by one-third this winter.

Although the rationing of fuel oil actually began October 1, the registration of consumers and issuance of ration coupons will probably begin about the middle of the month, Donald P. McPherson, Jr., Esq., said.

In the meantime suppliers will require satisfactory assurance from any customer to whom a delivery is made that coupons covering the delivery will be surrendered to them when the coupons are issued to the consumer.

"When suppliers register for their own allotments with the local rationing boards, they will receive supplies of application forms. The supplier will send each customer a copy of this form, together with a certification as to the amount of fuel oil delivered last year. The consumer will be required to fill out this form and mail it, with the dealer's certification attached, to the local board. Thereafter, he will receive a postcard from the board, advising him when and where to apply for his coupons," Mr. McPherson explained.

Need Three Figures

"In completing this form, there are three figures the consumer will need. First, the amount of oil he had in his storage tank on October 1st. Second, the length and width of the rooms he must heat with oil this winter.

"Simple multiplication will give the number of square feet of floor space to be heated. This figure with the October 1st inventory and the number of gallons used last year, as certified by the dealer, are the essential figures the application will require. OPO has emphasized the fact that a householder will not have to delve into higher mathematics to establish his proper ration. Neither will time-consuming computations for each applicant be required of the rationing board members.

The boards will be supplied with tables worked out in advance by heating experts which will enable board members and employees to make adjustments compensating for the size and nature of the family unit, local weather conditions, type of construction and insulation, and other factors.

Use Tables

"Applying these tables to the information furnished on his application, the board will determine the number of gallons of fuel oil each consumer will need to maintain a daytime temperature of 65 degrees in average winter weather, and he will receive coupons authorizing delivery of that amount. Coupons will be numbered one to five and each group will be valid only during a specified period, varying in each of four heat zones into which the plan divides the country. In Pennsylvania the No. 1 coupons are tentatively set to expire on December 2, No. 2 on January 5, No. 3 on February 6, No. 4 on March 12, and No. 5 will be valid from March 12 until the following September 30th.

"The rationing plan is designed to cut fuel oil consumption in the thirty states affected by one-third.

Veteran Truant Officer Resigns

Pittsburgh, Oct. 6 (AP)—Charles Snowden Atkinson, 79-year-old truant officer has given up the "hooky patrol" in suburban Millvale—much to the regret of the borough's youngsters!

Atkinson, nicknamed "Hogan" after the comic page hero many years ago, turned in his resignation because of illness last night. Last February he was dismissed because of his age but 800 pupils went on a strike and he was back on the job within a day.

Atkinson began his duties as truant officer in 1897 after losing his right arm and three fingers of his left hand in a railroad accident. A bachelor, he's been known to thousands of children for his kindness.

MacArthur's Planes Hit Jap Base, Ships

Somewhere in New Guinea, Oct. 6 (AP)—Bombers of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command smashed yesterday to pound Rabaul, New Britain, and Japanese ships at sea. United States Flying Fortresses bombed airdromes and other installations at New Britain and fought their way home through Japanese Zero fighters for 50 minutes.

Lieut. Frederick Wesche of Roselle, New Jersey, said his ship was attacked by 15 Zeros two minutes after bombs were released over the Rabaul airdrome. Sgt. Albert Kennedy of Philadelphia, turret gunner, said he poured heavy caliber machinegun fire into one Zero.

"He made a pass on my left, but I followed him in my sights and then let go," Kennedy said. "I gave him just a short burst of about a hundred rounds from each gun, which was short enough to send that guy spinning with smoke pouring from his engines."

Russian Cartoon Raps Front Delay

Moscow, Oct. 6 (AP)—The most pointed Soviet editorial expression to date on the lack of a second front appeared today in a Pravda cartoon showing a group of generals of the Colonel Blimp type listening to two strong officers dubbed "General Decisiveness" and "General Courage."

It was entitled "A Conference of War Experts."

The artist was a well known cartoonist, Boris Efimov.

A clock on the wall was shown ticking away. The calendar was at the month of October. The stuffed-shirt officers, but one of whom wore a field helmet, were tagged with such names as "General Cannot Risk," "General No Hurry" and "General Let's Wait."

The newspapers Red Star and Izvestia, which did not publish yesterday, carried on their front pages today reproductions of Premier Stalin's letter to Henry C. Cassidy, chief of the Moscow bureau of The Associated Press, in which Stalin called upon Russia's allies to "fulfill their obligations fully and on time."

President H. M. Oyer informed council of Guise's offer and of the latter's decision to stay in Gettysburg "because he felt he owes council something for the special police training they helped him secure. Besides he owns a home here and likes Gettysburg."

Chief Guise has been getting $1,800 per year. The increase to $2,000 is effective as of October 1.

Borough Secretary Wilmer Drach told council he had called Harrisburg and Washington to learn the cause for the delay in the delivery of oil for street surfacing work in Gettysburg and said he had been assured that the necessary priorities had been secured. At Washington he was told that word on the delivery of the approximately 12,000 gallons of oil should be received here by the end of this week.

Depends on Weather

Councilmen discussed the question of whether it is already too late in the year to undertake street building work. They appeared to be in agreement on the policy of letting future weather conditions determine the course to be followed. If bad weather bars the work it will be held over until spring.

Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner reported surfacing work on Buford avenue is under way. He stated also that the seminary is considering moving a frame house that now blocks extension of Hay street to Buford avenue. If the house is moved onto a vacant lot to the east the new street can be opened, he stated.

Council approved plans for rounding curb corners at Franklin and Chambersburg streets and High and Baltimore streets.

Council approved the purchase of two new smoke masks for the fire company at $35 each. Councilman George March said the company needs the masks badly and that the old ones now on hand are useless.

Collector's Rate

The matter of fixing the rate of pay for the borough tax collector was referred to the finance committee for study and recommendation. The question came up when Borough Tax Collector J. Herbert Welkert asked council to fix his commission. Councilmen said they thought the matter was fixed by law but their solicitor advised them they must set the rate. A search of council minutes for the last 10 years failed to show such action had been taken by former councils.

The highway committee was directed to investigate drainage problems in an alley to the east of Baltimore street and at two points on South Washington street.

The burgess report showed total collections of $479.54. He itemized the report this way: $85; building permits, $4; digging permits, $31; theatre tax, $350.04; driveway permits, $10, and garbage licenses, $76.50.

The monthly report of Treasurer John H. Baschore showed receipts for last month of $1,588.67 with no taxes entered because of the controversy over the rate of commission for the collector. Expenses amounted to $4,512 leaving a balance of $15,525 in the general fund. Mr. Baschore estimated $2,437 will be needed to meet bills and payrolls this month.

Police Report

The finance committee was asked to go over a 31-page list of names upon which Harry H. Thomas, former tax collector, is asking exonerations. He has promised to collect all of the taxes possible from the list and turn the money over to council.

Chief Guise's monthly report showed 11 prisoners were fingerprinted; two accidents investigated; five funerals escorted; 24 arrests made, 13 of them for disorderly conduct, and two for larceny.

COUNTY COWS HIT HIGH MARK IN SEPTEMBER

Twenty-six cows in the herds of the members of the Adams County Dairy Herd Improvement association each produced more than 40 pounds of butterfat and one topped the 50-pound mark during September, the monthly report of Miss Teresa Murren, tester, disclosed today.

A total of 357 cows in 16 herds were under test last month, Miss Murren reported.

The highest producing cow was a grade Guernsey in the herd of Norman J. King, York Springs, with a record of 58.5 pounds of butterfat and 1,329 of milk. Second and third positions on the list went to grade Holsteins in the Joseph A. Stoner herd, East Berlin. Both had butterfat production records above 49 pounds.

Other Reports

A purebred Holstein in the herd of H. M. Cater, Gettysburg R. D., placed fourth with a record of 47 pounds of fat; two animals in the Stoner herd, fifth and sixth; a registered Guernsey of Norman King, seventh; another Stoner cow, eighth; a registered Holstein of B. J. Griffe, York Springs, ninth, and a Holstein of Edgar Leer, York Springs, tenth.

Other members who had one or more cows producing over 40 pounds of butterfat were Martin T. Walter, Biglerville; Edgar W. Weaver, Gettysburg R. 4, and Charles B. Spicer, Heidelsburg.

Eight highest herd averages were held by these owners: Mr. Stoner, Mr. Griffe, Mr. Cater, W. Clayton Jester, Biglerville; Mr. Weaver, Mr. King, John W. Lucabagh, Hanover R. D., and Irvin Hostetter, Littlestown. All of the month's records were on the basis of two milkings per day.

"We all wish we could join our sons in this war but most of us must be content with serving in the 'Second Army,'" the commander said. "We Legionnaires are never too old to be loyal to the cause and of some definite benefit to our comrades and our country."

Other officers installed Monday included: First vice commander, Leon Altland; second vice commander, Wilbur A. Geiselman; adjutant, Paul M. Rohrbach; finance officer, Paul L. Spangler; chaplain, Howard Strausbaugh; historian, William H. Allison; sergeants-at-arms, Vincent Florence and Roy Mackley, and trustee, Harry J. Troxell.

The installing officer was District Commander Stanton House of Aspers.

Open Employment Bureau At College

The Student Christian association of Gettysburg college, sponsor of an employment bureau, has asked employers in this community to notify the office on the college campus of the amount of help they need.

Other information that will be needed by the S.C.A. office will include the type of work to be done, the hours, and the amount of the pay, as well as any other details that employers wish to provide.

College students, to enroll at the bureau, are required to fill out an employment blank on which is listed their qualifications and preferences. The employment service is being offered through the campus service committee of the S.C.A.
